49ERS' ADMINISTRATION AND COACHES

Edward J. DeBartolo, Jr., President

In a business where personal satisfaction, prestige and identification as a "winner" are primary motivations, 49ers' President Edward J. DeBartolo, Jr., went 3-for-3 in 1981. After four years of being virtually blanked, the 49ers' owner was rewarded for his unbending patience. "The 49ers are very personal to me," stated the 35-year-old chief executive officer late last season. "With all due respect to my wife Candy, the team has become my wife. I have lived and died with it, and what happened in 1981 has made me the proudest man in the world."

As early as the fifth week of the '81 season DeBartolo anticipated a turnaround in his team that some only hoped for and others scoffed at. "Going into the Redskins game at Washington that week, when we were 2-2, I felt our team coming together," reports DeBartolo, who predicted in an interview the day before that game "that our team just won't quit, they're coming faster than people realize." Ed Jr. would be the first to say he is no seer. His insight was simply an outgrowth of his continuing faith in the team and Coach-GM Bill Walsh.

Prior to '81 DeBartolo left no doubt about his support for his grid boss when he re-worked Walsh's existing four-year contract into a new, multi-year pact good through 1985. With that business completed, he sat back and watched Walsh take the 49ers to victory in Super Bowl XVI, bringing the City of San Francisco its first professional world championship.

Thus, in just five years as team President, DeBartolo guided the 49ers to the toughest achievement in professional sports — to bring an organization from rock bottom back to a contending position and on to a championship. It was a laudable achievement, and DeBartolo's '81 preseason pledge "of total support to the people presently guiding the team under Bill's direction — they are the people who will be operating the team for a long time" had much to do with establishing a relaxed working atmosphere free from "win at all costs" pressure from the top.

DeBartolo's support could be seen in other tangible ways. If the team needed another linebacker, he supported the signing of Jack Reynolds. If the pass rush was ailing, he underwrote the addition of Fred Dean. Take two talents like Reynolds and Dean and make them happy and . . . well, 1981 became a year of history making for the 49ers.

As President and Chief Executive Officer of the Niners, DeBartolo's corporate responsibility only begins with the San Francisco football franchise since he also is the President and Chief Administrative Officer of the worldwide Edward J. DeBartolo Corporation of Youngstown, Ohio. That latter role demands nearly all of his attention and time.

Founded in the DeBartolo family hometown of Youngstown in 1948 by Edward J. DeBartolo, Sr., who is the father of the 49ers' president, the DeBartolo Corporation has become one of America's great business success stories. It is the leading planner, builder, owner and operator of enclosed regional shopping malls in the world, malls that total more than 50 million square feet of retail space.

In addition, the Corporation owns thoroughbred race tracks, including luxurious Louisiana Downs in Shreveport, along with hotels, industrial and executive office parks, a foreign trade zone and overseas shipping operation, the Pittsburgh Penguins hockey franchise, Pittsburgh Spirit indoor soccer team, the Pittsburgh Civic Arena, and holds many commercial bank interests, including its role as majority stockholder in three banks.

Ed Jr. not only is one of America's fastest rising young executives for a major corporation, but he also is the youngest owner in the 28-team National Football League. "And luckiest too," said DeBartolo following last year's Super Bowl victory over Cincinnati. "As a youngster in Youngstown my friends and I used to drive to Cleveland to see the Browns play for Paul Brown. And now my team makes it to the Super Bowl against Paul's Bengals. Wonderful. What a dream come true."

Known as Eddie to his friends and associates, DeBartolo's rise to the top of the DeBartolo Corporation began following his graduation from Notre Dame in 1968. Prior to that he had worked for his father in the company, beginning at age 12 gardening and shoveling snow at mall locations and continuing into high school and college as a laborer on the DeBartolo construction crews. In '68 he began an executive training program that had him move from department to department, learning the many facets of the company which, by then, had grown from a small, successful firm into a national corporation and had become recognized as the largest shopping center firm in the United States. In 1971 he was appointed a vice president.

Five years later he was named executive vice president while taking over the in-house DeBartolo staff of some 300 engineers, architects, designers, financiers, leasing agents, lawyers, management and operations teams, along with advertising, public relations and marketing personnel. He was appointed President and Chief Administrative Officer in July, 1979.

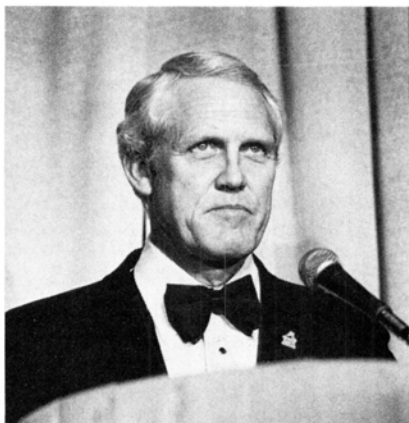

It was in 1977 that the dominant interest in his life, professional football, would become more than just an avocation when he became the 49ers' President and General Partner. He gained that distinction by purchasing 90 percent of the club (limited partners Jane Morabito and Franklin Mieuli each retained five percent).

A lesser known but just as important aspect of his life was recognized in San Francisco this spring. On May 17 he was presented the Salvation Army's Citation of Merit, an award previously won by Dwight D. Eisenhower, Cecil B. DeMille, Helen Hayes, and William Randolph Hearst, among other notables. At 35, Edward Jr. became the youngest recipient in history. He was honored for "his generous charitable work . . . his compassion for children in need . . . and his emphasis on teamwork and unity." DeBartolo has generously given his time and influence to the St. Jude Childrens Research Hospital, having directed the Youngstown effort for actor Danny Thomas, an effort that netted the greatest sum of any city its size in the nation. He also is active in the Heart Fund and Cancer Crusade, and has served as director for a Youngstown Youth Center and as a member of the Board of Trustees at Youngstown State University.

His wife Cynthia, who prefers the nickname Candy, was his childhood sweetheart, and they are the parents of three daughters, Lisa Marie 12, Tiffanie Lynn 11, and Nicole Ann 7.

BILL WALSH

Head Coach - General Manager

The remarkable achievement that San Francisco 49ers' Coach-General Manager Bill Walsh and his coaching staff accomplished in 1981 propelled Walsh into the national limelight probably more than any personality on the team, including Joe Montana.

Many said the 49ers' meteoric rise to the top last fall resulted in Walsh becoming as highly a visible figure on an NFL team as any coach had become in years. But while that perception was being formed, Walsh himself was a little startled that the 49ers took so many people by surprise.

"Even though our record in 1979 (Walsh's first year) was a major disappointment, the team wasn't," Walsh explains. "Over those first two years, we were gradually improving, setting the stage for 1981. We established the 49er offense in '79, by moving from the next-to-last ranked team offensively in the conference (in 1978) to third ranked. We gave our players confidence that they could move and control the football against anybody.

"Then, in 1980, when we tripled our wins (to a 6-10 mark with two three-game winning streaks), our team gained unity. We were pulled together early in the season and stayed that way throughout, even through a trying eight-game losing streak. And while we were in that streak, we still were playing good football, losing games by close margins. I could see us playing competitively and making progress."

The team unity in '80 was probably best illustrated by the Dec. 7 game that year against New Orleans. The 49ers, 5-8 at the start of the game, were down 35-7 at halftime, but came back to win in overtime 38-35. It's a contest Walsh is most proud of, since the game went down in NFL annals as the biggest comeback in league history.

Wide receiver Freddie Solomon calls the 49ers' team unity "a chemistry we have that Bill saw to." Adds Solomon, "Not just last year, but in 1980 too, we had a good feeling about one another on the team. It's not something you can easily explain, but we didn't mind seeing each other every day in the locker room. We played the last two years for each other, and for our pride . . . we just got along."

But to be taken seriously a year ago Walsh's team had to have a defense to go with its offense. It was said that Walsh's teams could confuse the heck out of you offensively, but it didn't matter. They could be outscored. And the 49ers had ranked near the bottom of the NFL defensively in '79 and '80, so there was validity to the statement.

But suddenly the 49ers had the best record in football at the conclusion of last year's regular season — 13-3, and the NFL's second-ranked defense. And even more suddenly they were World Champions, after disposing of the New York Giants, Dallas Cowboys and Cincinnati Bengals in the playoffs, all teams that had great 1981 seasons in their own right. Not since the post-World War II Chicago Cardinals went from 1-9 in 1945 to a league championship 10-3 record in '47 had an NFL team done such a complete turnaround. Other teams had gone from last place finishes to divisional championships in recent years, but no one had skyrocketed to the Super Bowl in the fashion of the '81 49ers.

* * * * *

Did Bill Walsh, the coach who had waited until he was 45 years old to finally be named a head coach (and then he had to leave pro football and return to Stanford, in 1977, to get that job), really make the difference? Forty Niners' President Eddie DeBartolo, the man who hired him, says, "Certainly Bill is the difference. When he came here, we were looking at a five-year plan just to get into the playoffs. In three years we've gone so far beyond what we had the right to expect that it's startling. We didn't necessarily have the players to suggest we would rise up that quickly. It was coaching and game preparation, and unwillingness to be beaten — all things Bill instilled in the team."

Walsh explains that the '81 49ers had "character" and that is what carried them through: "There isn't any way we can say we expected to go from the abject failure of three years ago to the world's championship and a convincing 16-3 record. We became tenacious and opportunistic on defense and our defensive coaches were inventive in deployment of the personnel they were given to work with. Helping that planning and preparation was the fact that we were adding better athletes to our defense each year. For example, we drafted heavily for linebackers in 1980 and for defensive backs in '81. Then we were able to sign Jack Reynolds and trade for Fred Dean.

"But more than anything, it took a group effort of 45 men displaying character to put into effect what we as coaches gave them. No one considered himself, or his stats for instance, more important than the team. When the defense didn't carry us, the offense came through, or the special teams made plays when they were needed, like in the Super Bowl against Cincinnati. They were pros with character all last season, and we'll never have to apologize for praising our players as such."

* * * * *

Bill Walsh's first coaching experience came as a graduate assistant at San Jose State. As an undergraduate, he had played both ways at end for Coach Bob Bronzan. He entered high school coaching in the San Francisco East Bay area at Fremont's Washington Union High School in 1957. By his second season there, his team was 9-1 and conference champion. Prior to that, Washington Union had been 1-26. It was a complete turnaround, and it would become a familiar trend when Walsh again became a head coach two decades later.

In 1960 he moved to the University of California as defensive coordinator for Marv Levy. In '63 he joined John Ralston's staff at Stanford as secondary coach and administrative assistant (recruiting coordinator). In 1966 he entered pro football as offensive backfield coach of the Oakland Raiders under Head Coach Al Davis.

Just over a year later, when the American Football League admitted the Cincinnati Bengals as an expansion franchise, Paul Brown was named Coach-General Manager. The venerable Brown was looking for a bright, young offensive-minded coach to guide his quarterbacks. Walsh, who was 36 at the time, was recommended to Brown by several people from different areas throughout the country, and Brown brought Bill into his fledgling franchise as coach of the quarterbacks and receivers.

Walsh, long a devotee to many of Sid Gillman's passing theories that Gillman's San Diego Chargers teams of the early '60s used to terrorize the AFL, began to build a reputation for developing quarterbacks at Cincinnati. He had three passing champions there, Greg Cook and Ken Anderson (twice), and coaxed career-best performances out of emergency quarterbacks Virgil Carter and Sam Wyche, who now is the 49ers' quarterback mentor.

Walsh's quarterback-coaching reputation was further enhanced when he later directed the daily work of Dan Fouts in San Diego and consecutive NCAA passing champions Guy Benjamin and Steve Dils at Stanford. His work with Steve DeBerg and Joe Montana in San Francisco is well documented, particularly Montana's scintillating '81 performance.

Following eight years in Cincinnati, and following Brown's decision to hire Bill Johnson as his successor, Walsh moved to the San Diego Chargers as offensive coordinator under Tommy Prothro in 1976. The opportunity to return to Stanford as head coach came along a year later. Walsh took it, insisting it was not a calculated step to obtain a head coaching job in the NFL. If anything, Walsh felt at the time that finishing his career as the head coach at Stanford could be a most fulfilling occupation.

Eddie DeBartolo thought differently. In January of '79, following the 49ers' most disastrous season in history (2-14 and last or nearly-last in the league in most statistical categories while two coaches were hired and fired), DeBartolo and Walsh met privately about the Niners' position. DeBartolo sensed he wanted Walsh as his coach before they met. Three weeks after he hired Walsh as coach, DeBartolo also named him general manager. It was a move that insured Walsh complete control of the 49ers' football operation. And it was the way both Eddie and Bill wanted it.

The 49ers were 31-55 in the 86 games prior to Walsh's hiring. But since Walsh's '79 team finished 2-14, the overall 49ers' record has been 22-13, including the club's first conference and Super Bowl championships in history. Last year's 13-3 regular season record was the best in team history, and included the longest regular season winning streak in club history, seven games, along with the longest road winning streak in 49er history, six. The latter streak is ongoing.

Bill Walsh was born November 30, 1931, in Los Angeles. Following his sophomore year in high school, his parents moved to Oregon for one year, then moved to Hayward, Calif., in the San Francisco East Bay area, where Bill finished high school.

Following graduation from Hayward High and two years at San Mateo Junior College, he enrolled at San Jose State, where he majored in education. He obtained his master's degree in 1959 and also put in a two-year hitch in the U.S. Army.

Today Bill and his wife Geri live in Menlo Park, Calif., and have three children: Steve 25, Craig 22 and Elizabeth 11.

JOHN E. McVAY

Administrative Vice President

John E. McVay was named the San Francisco 49ers' Administrative Vice President following the club's most successful season in history.

McVay's new assignment has him reporting directly on all club matters to team President Edward J. DeBartolo, Jr., and Head Coach-General Manager Bill Walsh. McVay previously was the team's Director of Football Operations.

McVay, 51, came to the 49ers in January of 1979 as the team's Director of Player Personnel. He served in that capacity for more than a year, then was promoted to

Director of Football Operations by Walsh in the summer of '80.

In his new role, McVay has added the duties of day-to-day operations director for all facets of the 49ers' front office, working closely with department heads Ken Flower (Marketing and Community Affairs), Tony Razzano (Scouting), George Heddleston (Public Relations), Keith Simon (Business) and Ken Dargel (Tickets).

McVay now serves as the club's chief negotiator for all player contractual agreements, and along with Walsh and Razzano, will continue to monitor the team's college draft, pro scouting, trades, free agent signings and waiver procedures.

"John is a highly talented man who has true expertise in professional football," praised Walsh, who announced the appointment in March. "He has been a key person in our operation since the beginning, and I have faith in the work he does.

"He has been directly involved in our development through the personnel acquisitions that brought new talent to the 49ers the past three years."

Team President DeBartolo said about McVay, "He is a man who has been in athletics all his life, and has been a success at every level of football, from high school through college to the pros.

"John is a work-ethic man, dependable, competent, extremely bright. His role in building our team has been vital. I feel this responsibility that has John involved in all facets of the 49ers is richly deserved. Too, this enables Bill to have as his No. 1 man a person who he already has had a good chemistry with for three seasons."

A native of Bellaire, Ohio, and a product of famed football town Massillon, Ohio, McVay came to the 49ers after having served the New York Giants as head coach for two and one-half seasons (1976-78).

McVay had been hired by Giants' Owner Wellington Mara in 1975 as an assistant coach in charge of research and development but was elevated to head coach in the middle of the '76 season when Bill Arnsparger was released. His won-loss record with the Giants was 14-23.

Prior to joining the Giants, he was the head coach and general manager of the Memphis Southmen of the World Football League, where his teams were 24-7 in the year and one-half that league existed. McVay had left the University of Dayton, where he was head football coach for nine years (1965-73), and athletic director in '72 and '73, to join the Southmen.

Having participated in organized football for portions of the last five decades, McVay excelled as a player before entering coaching and administrative work. He was an All-Ohio center as a Massillon schoolboy, and an All-Midwest selection and two-time team MVP as a center at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, where he played for both Woody Hayes and Ara Parseghian. He captained the Redskins' team as a senior, and is a member of that school's athletic hall-of-fame.

McVay went from Miami to become one of its 60-plus "Cradle of Coaches" (alumni) who have been successful collegiate and professional football coaches and administrators throughout the U.S. and Canada.

His coaching career began with a three-year stint at Lancaster (O.) High School, and moved to Franklin (O.) High for one year, before a five-year stay (41-7-0) at Canton (O.) Central Catholic High School.

From the prep ranks, McVay joined Duffy Daugherty's staff at Michigan State as an assistant in 1962 and stayed three years. From MSU, McVay took over the Dayton post, and led the Flyers to their first winning grid season in ten years when they finished 8-2 in 1966.

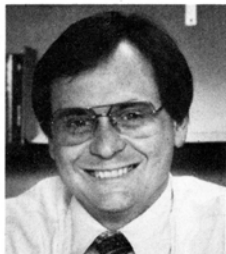

McVay and his wife, Lee, have four grown sons (Rick Robinson and Jim, Tim, and John McVay) and reside in Belmont.

Chuck Studley — DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR

Chuck Studley enters his 14th season in the NFL and his fourth year as defensive coordinator for San Francisco, after ten years with the Bengals in Cincinnati.

Studley was a successful college coach prior to entering the pro ranks. He won two Missouri Valley Conference championships as head coach at the University of Cincinnati (1961-68) before joining the staff of Paul Brown with the Bengals (he also served as a Bengal assistant under Bill Johnson). Chuck was grid boss at the University of Massachusetts and coached his team there to a Yankee Conference title in 1960 — before beginning an 18-year association in Cincinnati sports circles.

An All-Big Ten guard at the University of Illinois (1951), Studley was captain of the '51 Illini squad that won the Big Ten title (9-0-1) and played in the 1952 Rose Bowl. After graduation, he spent three years coaching at Alton High School in Illinois (1952-54), before joining the Illinois staff for five years (1955-59).

Chuck, was born in Maywood, Ill., Jan. 17, 1929. He and his wife, Peggy, have six children and live in Sunnyvale, Calif.

Norb Hecker — LINEBACKERS

Norb Hecker got "one for the thumb" in 1981 — his fifth world championship ring (one from his playing days at Los Angeles, three from his coaching days at Green Bay, and last season's championship season in San Francisco).

The 49ers' linebacking mentor since 1979 ('82 is his fourth season with the Niners), Norb celebrates his 25th year in professional football as a player and a coach.

As a player, Hecker was a Little All-America offensive end at Baldwin-Wallace College in Berea, Ohio, and his professional career began with Los Angeles, where he played both offensive end and defensive back (1951-53) with the Rams. He spent a season in Toronto (Canadian Football League) in 1954 before signing with Washington (for three seasons, 1955-57).

Norb returned to the CFL as a player-coach in 1958 with the Hamilton Tiger Cats, and the next season joined Vince Lombardi as an assistant coach in Green Bay. With the Packers (1959-65), he was part of the team's glory years in the '60s. Following his Green Bay tenure, Hecker spent two and one-half seasons as head coach of the Atlanta Falcons (1966-68) and three years (1969-71) as defensive coordinator for the New York Giants. He left the NFL in 1972 and spent seven seasons as an assistant coach at Stanford University, his last two coaching on Bill Walsh's staff there. Hecker came to the 49ers with Walsh in early '79.

Co-founder of the NFL Players Association, Norb was born in Olmstead Falls, Ohio, May 26, 1927. He and his wife, Barbara, have five children and live in Palo Alto, Calif.

Milt Jackson — SPECIAL TEAMS/RECEIVERS

Milt Jackson enters his third season as the 49ers' special teams and receivers coach following seven years of coaching at the collegiate level.

Milt was a four-sport athlete at Sacramento's Grant High School in football, basketball, track and baseball in the '60s, and following a football-baseball collegiate career at Tulsa, he was drafted by the 49ers (seventh round) and baseball's Philadelphia Phillies (first round) in 1967. He was a cornerback in football and a pitcher in baseball at Tulsa.

Prior to joining the 49ers' coaching staff, Jackson spent five years coaching in the Pac-10, at UCLA (offensive tackles and tight ends in 1979), Oregon (defensive backfield, 1977-78), and Cal (outside linebackers, 1975-76). He was running backs coach at Rice (1974) and a graduate assistant at Oregon State (1973) before that.

Jackson, who earned his master's degree in education while at OSU, is a bachelor and resides in Foster City, Calif. He was born Oct. 16, 1943.

Billie Matthews — RUNNING BACKS

Beginning his fourth season in the pro ranks, Billie Matthews is the coach Bill Walsh plucked from the college ranks to direct the 49ers running backs when Walsh took over the Niners.

Matthews came to San Francisco in 1979 after spending eight seasons at UCLA (1971-78), where he coached five 1,000-yard rushers: Kermit Johnson, James McAlister, Wendell Tyler, and Theotis Brown (twice). The '73 Bruin squad rushed for 4,403 yards in 11 games.

Billie also spent a season at Kansas (1970), where he coached John Riggins (Jets/Redskins) and Delvin Williams (49ers/Dolphins). Before that he had an outstanding 12-year (1958-69) prep coaching career at Kashmere High School in his hometown of Houston, Tex.

A star quarterback at Southern University in Baton Rouge, La., Matthews led his team to an 11-0 record and the National Black championship as a freshman in 1948. Southern was 37-4 during his four-year stint with the Jaguars.

Billie was born Mar. 15, 1930, in Houston, Tex. He and his wife, Gene, have four children and make their home in Redwood City, Calif.

Bill McPherson — DEFENSIVE LINE

Entering his fifth year of professional football coaching, Bill McPherson is in his fourth season with the 49ers — one as linebackers coach and the last three (counting 1982) as defensive line coach.

A defensive tackle at Santa Clara in the early '50s, McPherson began coaching in 1956 at his high school alma mater, San Jose's Bellarmine Prep (1956-62), following Army service in Korea. He later was the defensive coordinator at Santa Clara University (1963-74) for 12 years before moving to UCLA (1975-77). McPherson coached the defensive line at both Santa Clara and UCLA.

At UCLA, Bill worked with Dick Vermeil, whom he later joined as an assistant with the Philadelphia Eagles. McPherson was linebackers coach for Vermeil in Philadelphia (1978) for one year, before returning to his native state of California and joining the 49ers.

Bill and his wife, Elsie, have five children and live in San Jose. He was born there Oct. 31, 1931.

Bobb McKittrick — OFFENSIVE LINE

Bobb McKittrick enters his 12th season in the NFL and his fourth with the San Francisco 49ers as the coach for the offensive line.

McKittrick has been coaching professional football since 1971 when he was an assistant with the Los Angeles Rams under Tommy Prothro (1971-72). He took a sabbatical from football in 1973 to do graduate work at his alma mater (Oregon State), before rejoining Prothro at San Diego (1974-78). He also coached the Chargers offensive line under Don Coryell at the conclusion of the '78 season.

Bobb began his coaching career in 1961 as an assistant at Oregon State, after three years in the U.S. Marine Corps as an officer. He coached at Oregon State (1961-64) and at UCLA (1965-70) on the collegiate level.

McKittrick was born in Baker, Ore., Dec. 29, 1935. He and his wife, Teckla, have two children and live in San Mateo, Calif.

George Seifert — SECONDARY

George Seifert begins his third season of coaching NFL defensive backs in 1982 following 15 years in the collegiate ranks.

After graduating from Utah (1963), Seifert served a six-month tour of duty with the U.S. Army before returning to Utah as a graduate assistant coach in 1964. Then, in 1965, he was named head coach at Westminster College in Salt Lake City.

He moved on to Iowa (1966), then to Oregon (1967-71) as an assistant, before joining Stanford University's staff (1972-74) as secondary coach (transforming the defensive backfield into the Pac-8 Conference's best statistically in both '72 and '73).

Seifert left Stanford in 1975 to become head coach at Cornell University (1975-76), but returned to Stanford to join Bill Walsh's staff in 1977. The Cardinal pass defense was second in the Pac-10 in both '78 and '79. In 1980, George joined Walsh again, this time with the 49ers.

A native of San Francisco, Seifert was born Jan. 22, 1940. He and his wife, Linda, have two children and live in Sunnyvale, Calif.

Sam Wyche — QUARTERBACKS

Sam Wyche has gained a top-flight reputation in his first three years as a full-time coach. He enters year four of his NFL coaching career in 1982, all with the Niners, where he has received plaudits for his assistance in the pro development of Joe Montana.

Sam was a walk-on quarterback at Furman University in 1962. After college, he signed with the Wheeling Ironmen of the Continental Football League and played one year there (Wheeling, W. Va.). The following year was spent as a graduate assistant for Paul Dietzel at the University of South Carolina, where he obtained his Master's degree in business administration.

Wyche then played nine years (1968-76) in the NFL for five teams. He began with the expansion Cincinnati Bengals (1968), was traded to Washington (1971-73), then to Detroit (1974-75). He spent his final season with St. Louis and Buffalo in 1976.

Sam has gathered football knowledge as a player and/or coach under George Allen, Raymond Berry, Paul Brown, Don Coryell, Paul Dietzel, Ted Marchibroda, Jack Pardee, and Bill Walsh.

He was born in Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 5, 1945. Sam and his wife, Jane, have two children and live in Sunnyvale, Calif.

Ray Rhodes — ASSISTANT SECONDARY

Ray Rhodes entered the coaching profession in 1981, just in time for the 49ers' first World Championship, after seven seasons in the league as a fine, all-around player.

Rhodes, who played defensive back for San Francisco in 1980, came to the 49ers after six seasons with the New York Giants, where he played both offense and defense. Drafted by the Giants in the tenth round of '74, Ray played wide receiver until 1977 when he was switched to defensive back. He led all NFC receivers in average yards gained (20.7) per catch in 1975.

Ray was a collegiate running back at TCU for two years before ending his career at Tulsa as a wide receiver, kick returner and running back. He also earned letters in track & field at Tulsa.

Rhodes, a native of Mexia, Tex., was born Oct. 20, 1950. He and his wife, Carmen, have three children and live in Fremont, Calif.

Al Vermeil — CONDITIONING

The 49ers' strength and conditioning programs are directed by Al Vermeil.

A well-known Bay Area prep level coach prior to joining the 49ers, Vermeil was head football coach and athletic director at Moreau High School in Hayward, Calif., for six years (1973-78). His teams won two championships and one co-championship during that period and Vermeil was named Catholic Athletic League Coach-of-the-Year.

Al played linebacker during his collegiate days at Utah State and was captain of the Aggie team his senior season. He received his Master's degree in physical education from Kansas State.

The brother of Philadelphia Eagles Coach Dick Vermeil, Al and his wife, Diane, have two children and live in Fremont, Calif. He was born Feb. 4, 1945.

Lindsay McLean — HEAD TRAINER

Lindsay McLean has been an athletic trainer for 20 years, including 11 years as head trainer at the University of Michigan prior to joining the 49ers as co-trainer in 1979. He was named the 49ers' head trainer last spring.

Before he joined Michigan's staff (1968-78), McLean served as head trainer at UC-Santa Barbara (1963-64) and San Jose State (1965-67).

A native of Nashville and a 1960 graduate of Vanderbilt, McLean received his certification in physical therapy from Herman Hospital in Houston, Tex., in 1961.

Born June 28, 1938, he lives in Redwood City, Calif.

Hal Wyatt — ASSISTANT TRAINER

Hal Wyatt is in his sixth season with the 49ers.

A native of San Angelo, Tex., Wyatt graduated from North Texas State University with a degree in physical education in 1972. Following graduation, Hal spent three years operating a sports medicine clinic in Dallas, Tex., and was trainer with the Dallas Tornado soccer team in 1975. He joined the 49ers in July, 1977.

Hal and his wife, Kathy, have two sons and make their home in Redwood City, Calif. He was born Aug. 9, 1951.

Chico Norton — EQUIPMENT MANAGER

Forrest "Chico" Norton has become a San Francisco 49ers institution. Chico, whose nickname comes from his hometown of Chico, Calif., begins his 28th year as the 49ers' equipment manager. He has been with the organization longer than any other employee.

Born Nov. 24, 1919, Norton first entered professional athletics when he went to work for the San Francisco Seals baseball team in 1948. He joined the 49ers in 1955.

He and his wife, Sylvia, live in San Francisco. They have seven grown children and seven grandchildren.

Dan Audick • 61

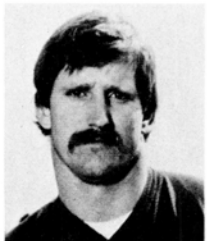

GUARD/TACKLE • HAWAII • 5TH YEAR
HT: 6-3 • WT: 253 • BORN: 11-15-54 • (TRADE IN '81)

PRO: Dan Audick (pronounced "Aw-dick") is a competitor. To be successful, he has had to be a competitor. He made it in the NFL the hard way — drafted in the fourth round by the Steelers in 1977, traded to Cleveland (8-17-77) and released (9-1-77), signed by St. Louis (11-8-77) and released (8-22-78), signed by San Diego (12-14-78) and finally traded to San Francisco (8-17-81). Audick has been a starter in 34 of his last 52 games, including all 19 at left tackle for 49ers in 1981. Until he proved himself in '81, he was turned to as a starter in need rather than a starter of merit. He started the first four games of 1979 when left guard Doug Wilkerson was sidelined at San Diego with a knee injury. And he started the final 11 games (counting playoffs) in 1980 with the Chargers after Russ Washington went down with a knee injury at right tackle. Audick's initial starting nod with the Niners in '81 came after left tackle Ken Bungarda injured his knee in preseason. He is not, however, a guaranteed starter for 1982 (since the 49ers selected Michigan All-America tackle William "Bubba" Paris as their first pick in last spring's college draft). "I want to play. I want to start," says Audick. "I think I proved I can play tackle or guard. I think I'm coming off a great season." Dan came to San Francisco in a trade with the Chargers for the Niners' 1982 third round draft pick. His '81 stats included one tackle (11-1 at Pittsburgh) and two fumble recoveries (both 12-13 vs. Houston . . . fumbles by Ricky Patton and Joe Montana).

COLLEGE: A three-year starter at the University of Hawaii as a tackle and guard, Dan was captain of the 1976 Rainbow squad and was named Outstanding Offensive Lineman.

PERSONAL: Born Daniel James Bartholomew Audick in San Bernardino, Calif., in 1954, he is one of ten children of a military father and has lived in several spots around the world. Dan attended Roy J. Wasson High School in Colorado Springs, Colo. He earned his business degree from Hawaii in 1977.

STATS: Regular season games/starts — 1977-St. Louis (2/0), 1978-San Diego (1/0), 1979 (16/4), 1980 (15/9), 1981-San Francisco (16/16), Career (50/29). Postseason games/starts — 1979 (1/0), 1980 (2/2), 1981 (3/3). Career (6/5).

John Ayers • 68

GUARD • WEST TEXAS STATE • 6TH YEAR
HT: 6-5 • WT: 265 • BORN: 4-14-53 • (D-8 IN '76)

PRO: "John Ayers has arrived." That is a direct quote from a person who should know — 49ers' Coach-GM Bill Walsh. "And, at his age (he was 29 on April 14 of this year), he has a great future ahead of him in the NFL. John is strong, big, mobile and his technique seems to improve from week-to-week. He is one of the best pass protecting guards in the league." If that from the NFL Coach-of-the Year doesn't sell you, how about a recommendation from the guy he protects each Sunday — Joe Montana: "John is excellent. He had some outstanding games in 1981 and was a key factor for our success all season long. He did a splendid job, for example, in protecting me from Lawrence Taylor in our first postseason game with the New York Giants (1-3-82) last year." And to top it off, Offensive Line Coach Bobb McKittrick praises: "In both Dallas games last season, John controlled perennial All-Pro Randy White, and in both New York Giants games, he stalemated Defensive Rookie-of-the-Year Taylor. He may just be one of the finest pass protectors in the league." Ayers was drafted in the eighth round of 1976 by San Francisco and played every position along the offensive line until finding a home at guard in '79. He sat out the 1976 season on injured reserve (wrist injury) and came back to see action in 14 games during '77 and all 16 games in 1978, '79 and 1980. John has started every game during the past three seasons, including all 19 contests last year (51 straight games heading into 1982). He has started 66 of the 49ers' last 68 games (counting postseason play).

COLLEGE: Ayers was an All-Missouri Valley Conference selection as a defensive end at West Texas State in 1975 (as a senior). He lettered for the Buffaloes in 1973-74-75 after transferring there from the University of Texas in Austin. Ayers started 32 consecutive games for WTSU.

PERSONAL: An All-Texas schoolboy team honoree as a senior, John was a standout athlete at Carrizo Springs High School. He and his wife, Laurel, have two children — one son, J.T. (6-5-79) and one daughter, Jolee (6-4-82). They make their offseason home in Caynon, Tex. John was born in Carrizo Springs. His NFL stats include a fumble recovery in 1978 and a tackle following an interception last year (vs. Atlanta 11-8-81).

STATS: Regular season games/starts — 1976 (missed '76 season on injured reserve), 1977 (14/1), 1978 (16/14), 1979 (16/16), 1980 (16/16), 1981 (16/16), Career (78/63). Postseason games/starts — 1981 (3/3).

Guy Benjamin • 7

QUARTERBACK • STANFORD • 5TH YEAR
HT: 6-3 • WT: 210 • BORN: 6-27-55 • (TRADE IN '81)

PRO: Guy Benjamin played in just four games for the 1981 49ers, but the backup quarterback called plays in all 19 contests. That contradiction was accomplished when Guy was assigned the task of signaling the plays into the game (to Joe Montana) from the sidelines after the coaches in the press box and on the sidelines called them to Benjamin. Guy was acquired in a trade with New Orleans (7-13-81) on the eve of the opening of training camp. The 49ers gave up their sixth round pick in the '82 NFL draft. "The best compliment I can give Guy is to say that the can play in the NFL. Everyone knows Joe Montana is our No. 1 quarterback, but I feel comfortable with Guy as the back-up," says Coach-GM Bill Walsh. Benjamin was a second round pick of the Miami Dolphins in 1978 — the third quarterback selected behind Doug Williams and Matt Cavanaugh (51st player chosen overall). He was traded to New Orleans for a fourth round draft choice (9-1-80) before journeying back to the Bay Area where he had played college ball under Bill Walsh at Stanford. Guy's two-year Miami stats included seven games, 9-of-12 passing for 119 yards and one TD, while his one-year Saints stats included two games, 7-of-17 for 28 yards. He had his best season in 1981 with San Francisco as he completed 15-of-26 passes for 171 yards and one score in just four games. His '81 game-by-game stats were: Dallas (10-11) 0-for-3, at Cincinnati (12-6) 0-for-0, Houston (12-13) 7-for-9 for 82 yards and one TD (to Mike Wilson), and at New Orleans (12-20) 8-for-14 for 89 yards.

COLLEGE: Guy led the nation in passing as a senior at Stanford under Walsh (208-for-330 for 2,790 yards and 19 TDs for a 63.1 completion percentage). His 48 career TDs at Stanford places him second on the all-time Cardinal charts behind Jim Plunkett (52) and he was an Academic All-America selection in political science. He was the 1977 Wiseman Trophy winner (award given nationally by Victoria Station Restaurants to its "player-of-the-year"). Benjamin capped his collegiate career with a three touchdown, 269-yard (23-of-36 passes) performance in a 24-14 win over LSU in the Sun Bowl.

PERSONAL: Born in Hollywood, Calif., in 1955, Benjamin attended James Monroe High School in Sepulveda, Calif. His full name is Guy Emory Benjamin and he calls San Mateo, Calif., his current home. Guy earned his bachelor of arts degree in political science from Stanford in 1978 and attends graduate school in the offseason. Guy was a co-instructor for a sports psychology class at Stanford this past offseason — "Optimum Human Performance". His pro stats include two rushes for minus-one yard.

Dwaine Board • 76

DEFENSIVE END • NORTH CAROLINA A&T • 4TH YEAR
HT: 6-5 • WT: 248 • BORN: 11-29-56 • (FA IN '79)

PRO: Dwaine Board made a rousing comeback in 1981. There was much concern about the talented defensive end heading into '81 after he sat out the last 13 games of 1980 with a severe knee injury. But surgery corrected the knee problem and Board turned in a top performance throughout the 49ers' championship season. He started 14 of the team's 19 games last year, including all three postseason contests. His stats included 53 tackles, seven sacks for 67½ yards and two blocked kicks — a field goal vs. Los Angeles (10-25) and an extra point attempt against Houston (12-20). He started the first nine games of '81, the last two, and the three playoff games. Board had two sacks at Atlanta (9-20) for 22 yards and two at Washington (10-4) for 20 yards. "Dwayne played good, all-around football last season while bouncing back from his injury," says Bill Walsh. "He is an excellent pass rusher and an outstanding pursuit man who can cover sideline-to-sideline." Board originally was drafted by Pittsburgh in the fifth round of 1979 and waived by the Steelers (8-27-79) in Pittsburgh's final cut that year. San Francisco wasted no time in claiming the big defensive end. He made a surprisingly easy adjustment from small college linebacker to NFL DE with the Niners in '79, earning a starting nod by mid-season and becoming the 49ers' most successful rookie. Board established himself in a reserve role early, then replaced Cedrick Hardman (later traded to Oakland) at right end before the season ended. He gained starts in Games 8-9-14-15-16 in 1979, and led that '79 team in sacks with seven (one-fourth of the team's total).

COLLEGE: Board was a four-year starter for North Carolina A&T at linebacker and was selected to the Mutual Black Radio All-America Team three times (1975, '76, '77). An All-Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference first team selection his final two seasons, he was voted the MEAC Defensive Player-of-the-Year in 1977.

PERSONAL: Dwayne is a graduate of Franklin County High School in Rocky Mount, Va., where he was born, and makes Midlothian, Va., his offseason home. He lives in Mountain View, Calif., during the season. Board received his bachelor of science degree in industrial technology from North Carolina A&T in Greensboro in 1979. His nickname is "Pee-Wee" ("You should see my brother" is his explanation).

TACKLE • MISSOURI • 2ND YEAR
HT: 6-6 • WT: 275 • BORN: 1-25-57 • (FA IN '80)

PRO: Ken Bungarda, one of only two free agents (Lawrence Pillers was the other) to make the 1980 49ers' team after taining camp, is in year No. 2 of "on-the-job training" at left tackle. The converted defensive tackle was getting top grades for "progress, dedication and determination" last season when a preseason knee injury sidelined him for the entire year. If he can come back from that injury in '82, he could add depth to the offensive line and even be a key factor there. Originally, Bungarda was drafted by the Cincinnati Bengals in the 11th round of 1979 as a defensive end/defensive tackle. He played briefly in Canada (from 10-5-79 to 11-3-79) after being released by the Bengals (8-20-79) in camp. Ken was signed by the 49ers (2-1-80) and converted to offense. He played in 15 games in 1980, almost exclusively on special teams. He was injured in the second preseason game in 1981 and spent the season on injured reserve following extensive knee surgery.

COLLEGE: Bungarda played defense at Missouri following his transfer from Arizona Western Junior College.

PERSONAL: Ken graduated from Governor Livingston High School in Berkeley Heights, N.J. His real name is Kestutis (named after a tenth century Lithuanian king), but he goes by Ken J. (for John) Bungarda, or by his nickname of "Tarzan."

STATS: Regular season games/starts — 1980 (15/0), 1981 (0/0), Career (15/0).

Dan Bunz • 57

LINEBACKER • CAL STATE-LONG BEACH • 5TH YEAR
HT: 6-4 • WT: 225 • BORN: 10-7-55 • (D-1B IN '78)

PRO: Dan Bunz has made over 400 tackles in his career as a 49ers' linebacker, but his final hit of the '81 season — in the third quarter of Super Bowl XVI during the Niners' historic goal line stand — will probably be the one he is remembered for long after he retires from the NFL. The play — in which he stopped Cincinnati's Charles Alexander on the one-inch line and drove him sideways to keep the Bengals out of the endzone — was his 65th tackle of the season. It was one of three crucial tackles he participated in during that goal line stand. Last season was the first year since joining the 49ers that Bunz didn't finish as the team leader in tackles (Jack Reynolds did in '81), but it was not a bad year for the intense, blond-haired player with the gap-toothed smile. Bunz was the Niners' 1B draft pick in 1978 and enjoyed a solid rookie season, leading the squad with 135 tackles, including 92 solo stops. He had a run of bad luck in '79 as he missed the entire preseason with a throat infection and flu which caused him to lose 20 pounds. Despite that tough luck, he showed marked improvement in the second half of the season and led the team in primary tackles again with 74. In 1980, Dan finished strong again (with 58 tackles in the final six games) as squad leader with 112, including a team-best 74 solo stops (again). He had 60 regular season tackles in 1981 and five during the playoffs. "Dan has had his peaks and valleys, but he keeps working and improving," says linebackers coach Norb Hecker.

COLLEGE: As a three-year starter at Cal State-Long Beach, Bunz recorded 448 tackles, including 72 solo and 99 assists as a senior. He was voted MVP in the Pacific Coast Athletic Association and was honorable mention All-America. He played in both the Senior Bowl and East-West Shrine game.

PERSONAL: Dan graduated from Oakmont High School in Roseville, Calif., and makes his offseason home on a ranch east of Sacramento (just minutes from the Niners' summer training site at Sierra College in Rocklin). Both Rocklin and Roseville had a "Dan Bunz Day" following the 49ers' World Championship season. Dan was born in Roseville. He played a bit part in the movie "North Dallas Forty" following the '78 season.

John Choma • 60

GUARD-CENTER • VIRGINIA • 2ND YEAR
HT: 6-6 • WT: 261 • BORN: 2-9-55 • (FA IN '81)

PRO: John Choma (pronounced "Coma") is a man of many talents, the 49ers' utilityman. "John can play offense, defense and special teams for us. He works the goal line defense and had an outstanding game in that role in the Super Bowl. John's best position, however, is offensive guard, although he can play tackle and center, too," says Coach-GM Bill Walsh. He originally was selected in the fifth round of the 1978 draft by the San Diego Chargers and was on injured reserve with a staph infection the entire 1978 season with San Diego. John was released by the Chargers (8-27-79), signed by Kansas City (12-12-79) and released in camp (8-19-80) the next year. The 49ers signed him during the offseason (2-24-81) and played him in 14 games plus playoffs in '81. Besides being a key to the historic goal line stand during the third period of Super Bowl XVI, John had two regular season solo tackles — one good for minus-yardage on Walter Payton of Chicago (9-13) and the other against the New York Giants (11-29) — in 1981. "It's all part of finding a place on the roster. I'm willing to play anywhere at anytime with the 49ers," explains Choma.

COLLEGE: John was a three-year starter as an offensive tackle and offensive guard at the University of Virginia.

PERSONAL: Married to the former Gloria Vander Meer, John attended Normandy High School in Parma, Ohio. His full name is John Gregory Choma and he earned his bachelor of science (health and P.E.) from Virginia in 1978. He was born in Cleveland, Ohio, and makes his offseason home — with Gloria — in Atherton, Calif. Choma was active for one game in 1979 with the Chiefs but did not play.

STATS: Regular season games/starts — 1981 (14/0); Postseason games/starts — 1981 (3/0).

Ricky Churchman • 33

SAFETY • TEXAS • 3RD YEAR
HT: 6-1 • WT: 193 • BORN: 3-14-58 • (D-4A IN '80)

PRO: For Ricky Churchman, 1982 might just be a "wait and see" season. One of the few bright spots in the 49ers' secondary during 1980 (as a rookie out of Texas), Churchman injured his knee late in '80, and was operated on during the offseason (1-17-81). His comeback attempt failed and he was placed on the team's injured reserve list (10-2) after only four games (three of which he played in; he finished the season with three solo tackles). Ricky underwent arthroscopic surgery (10-8) and remained on the injured reserve the rest of the season. When the 49ers held their mini-camp in May, Churchman was present and ran under the watchful eyes of the team trainers, but he didn't take part in the full workouts. At press time, it was not known if Churchman would be ready for '82 or not. He was originally drafted 4A by the Niners in 1980 and played in all 16 games that season, 15 as a starter. His interceptions (four) and his passes defended (14) were co-ests on the team (with Dwight Hicks' marks), and he totaled 75 tackles, including 55 solo stops. "Ricky has a nose for the ball and is a great tackler" says Coach-GM Bill Walsh. "He is a courageous and inspirational player. We look forward to his return."

COLLEGE: Churchman was a 3rd Team All-America (Football News and College and Pro Football Newsweekly) selection as a senior at Texas. He also earned All-Southwest Conference honors, was named to the AP Honorable Mention All-America squad, and played in the East-West Shrine Game. Ricky finished his college career with 267 tackles (20 for losses), two QB sacks, 32 defended passes, six interceptions, and four fumble recoveries. The former high school quarterback stepped in for one play as the signal caller for the Longhorns and handed off to "Ham" Jones, who went 66 yards for a TD against TCU. Churchman was a four-year Texas starter.

PERSONAL: Born in Houston, Tex., Ricky grew up in Pearland, Tex., and attended Pearland High School. He and his wife (former Dana Hardegree) make their offseason home in Austin, Tex. Churchman earned his accounting degree from Texas in May of 1981. His hobbies include building and flying model airplanes, building guns, and drag racing. In a little league football game once, Ricky was embarrassed when his pants were pulled down by a defender trying to tackle him.

Dwight Clark • 87

WIDE RECEIVER • CLEMSON • 4TH YEAR
HT: 6-4 • WT: 210 • BORN: 1-8-57 • (D-10A IN '79)

PRO: To say Dwight Clark "rose to the occasion" is an understatement. But it's a statement that illustrates his NFL career. A tenth round draft choice in 1979, Dwight led the NFC in pass receiving last year and set the 49ers' all-time club mark with 85 catches. The biggest catch of his life, however, was not counted in that record-85 figure. It came in the NFC Championship game against Dallas and will forever be known as The Catch. Simply put, it gave the 49ers a 28-27 win over the Cowboys and sent them to Super Bowl XVI. And, Dwight rose to the occasion on that one, too! "I thought it was too high for me because I don't jump that well," explains Clark. "Something got me up there. It must have been God or something helping me." The reception was one of 17 postseason catches by Clark for 269 yards and two TDs. His regular season stats included the 85 receptions for 1,105 yards (second best in 49ers' history) and four TDs, with a long of 78 yards (and a score) against Dallas in the Niners' 45-14 romp in October. Dwight owns the team mark of MOST CONSECUTIVE GAMES WITH AT LEAST ONE PASS RECEPTION at 34 (counting playoffs) and it is on-going, dating back to Game No. 2 of 1980. Clark started all 19 games in '81, counting playoffs (and has a string of 23 straight starts overall and 20 straight regular season starts). His '81 stats included that 78-yard TD versus Dallas (10-11) and a 41-yard score against Los Angeles (10-25). He also rushed three times for 32 yards during the season and twice for four yards during postseason play. Clark threw one pass — incomplete (vs. New York, 11-29 regular season) and recovered Cincinnati's on-side kick to end the game in Super Bowl XVI. He surpassed 1,000-yards receiving with 78 yards on six catches at Cincinnati (12-6). "Dwight might just be our most valuable player," says Coach-GM Bill Walsh. "He contributes big plays from the beginning of a game to the end. His stamina and consistency are amazing. He is an all-weather receiver who can catch the ball in any situation." Clark, who was named to the Pro Bowl following the '81 slate, joined Kellen Winslow as the only two players since the NFL/AFL merger to haul in over 80 passes in back-to-back seasons (Lionel Taylor with 92 in 1960 and 100 in '61 is the only other player in pro football history to do so). Clark had 82 catches in 1980 and 85 in 1981 (Winslow had 88 and 89, respectively). "DC", as he is known to his teammates, had four-or-more catches in 13 games in '81, plus 17 in the three playoff games. His best receiving game was nine catches at Atlanta (9-20) and his best yardage total was 135 yards vs. Dallas (10-11). Honors for Dwight in '81 included: the Pro Bowl, UPI All-NFC 2nd Team, College & Pro Football Newsweekly All-NFC, and First Interstate Bank Athletic Foundation Northern California Athlete-of-the-Month for December.

COLLEGE: Clark caught 33 passes for 571 yards and a 17.3 average per catch in three years of varsity action at Clemson. He played strong safety for the Tigers as a freshman. He had receiving seasons of seven (sophomore), 15 (junior), and 11 (senior) catches for three TDs for the Tigers. Dwight earned his degree in history from Clemson in 1980. He is one of three

Clemson players on the '82 roster (along with Archie Reese and Jim Stuckey). His college roommate was QB Steve Fuller of the Kansas City Chiefs.

PERSONAL: Clark was born Dwight Edward Clark in Kinston, N.C., and grew up in Charlotte, where he attended Garinger High School. An "electronics game freak", "DC" favors golf, basketball and tennis as other sports of interest. A highlight to his '82 summer was serving as honorary chairman of the South Bay WalkAmerica fund raiser for the March of Dimes.

Earl Cooper • 49

FULLBACK

3RD YEAR

HT: 6-2 • WT: 227 • BORN: 9-17-57 • (D-1A IN '80)

PRO: Earl Cooper has played in 32 regular season games as a professional and has caught at least one pass in every one of them. He has been shut out in that department only once in his 49ers' career and that was against the New York Giants in the NFC playoffs last season. In 23 of those 32 consecutive games-with-a-catch, No. 49 has had three-or-more receptions, and eight times he has hauled in a half-dozen-or-more passes. The finest receiving game of his two-year career was his initial one (at New Orleans, 9-7-80) when he caught 10 passes for 71 yards. His most yardage was gained against the Giants (11-23-80) when he caught three passes for 84 yards. He has been over 50 yards receiving on eight occasions. No doubt about it, Cooper can catch. He ranked No. 1 in the NFC and No. 2 in the NFL in 1980. As a runner, Earl has had 50-or-more rushing yards in nine different games, with a high of 90 vs. Buffalo (12-21-80). "Cooper is one of the fine young backs to come into the NFL in recent years. He is versatile, maybe more versatile than Billy Sims," says Miami Dolphins Coach Don Shula. "Enough good things can't be said about Earl Cooper," adds New York Giants Coach Ray Perkins. Adds Bill Walsh, "Earl had his ups and downs in '81, but finished strong. He is versatile, he's a blocker, he has speed, size and outstanding hands. And ... he is a very important person in our offensive planning." Earl played in all 19 games for the Niners in 1981 (started 11 times during the regular season and all three playoff games). His regular season stats included 330 rushing yards and 477 receiving yards on 98 carries and 51 receptions (19th in the NFC), respectively. He added an 11-yard touchdown reception in Super Bowl XVI. His '81 bests included 62 rushing yards at Cincinnati (12-6) and 77 receiving yards on six catches vs. Houston (12-13). Earl's longest run of the season was 23 yards vs. Chicago (9-13). His long reception was 50 yards vs. Los Angeles (10-25).

COLLEGE: Cooper rushed for 1,583 yards on 407 carries and caught 101 passes for 802 yards as a collegian. He scored 21 touchdowns in four straight losing seasons with the Rice Owls. As a senior in '79 (Rice finished 1-10), Earl rushed 146 times for 563 yards and hauled in 47 passes for another 463 yards and seven scores. He played in the Blue-Gray, Senior, and East-West Shrine all-star games following his Rice career.

PERSONAL: As a high school quarterback, halfback, receiver, and linebacker, Cooper played at tiny Lincoln High in Lexington, Tex. He was a four-event track and field performer and a basketball player there as well. His off-season home is Houston, and he was born in Giddings, Tex. Earl has his degree from Rice (physical education, 1981). A highlight to his '81 campaign was appearing on the covers of Sports Illustrated twice (12-1-81 & 2-1-82).

Randy Cross • 51

GUARD • UCLA • 7TH YEAR
HT: 6-3 • WT: 265 • BORN: 4-25-54 • (D-2A IN '76)

PRO: Memorial Day, 1982 will always be a frighteningly memorable day in the life of All-Pro guard Randy Cross. That's the day Randy suffered a broken left leg (the fibula bone) and torn ligaments in his left ankle — the result of a fall — during a charity appearance at a Bay Area amusement park. Cross underwent surgery that night and his left leg was put in a cast for a projected six to eight weeks. At press time, it was unknown when Cross would rejoin the squad. Team doctors said Cross would be unable to practice until late August at the earliest and that he could possibly miss the entire '82 season. "We must prepare for this season as if Randy won't be able to make it," Coach-GM Bill Walsh said following the injury. "Of course we hope he will be back but we will not go into the beginning of the season hoping to have Randy, trying to plan around whether or not he can play, then be disappointed." The ironic part is that Randy was injured doing what he does best — giving of his time and celebrity status to help others. The accident followed on the heels his finest season as a pro, one in which he was finally rewarded for his many years of outstanding play. In 1981, he was named to a bundle of honors, including the Pro Bowl, UPI and College &

CROSS Cont.

Pro Football Newsweekly All-NFC, AP All-NFL 2nd Team, Pro Football Writers Association, NEA, Pro Football Weekly, and Football Digest All-NFL, and the 49ers' NFL Man-of-the-Year (sponsored by the Miller Brewing Company) in a vote by the fans. Cross started all 19 games in '81, stretching his consecutive starts streak, to 48 regular season games and 51 overall (counting playoffs). Randy has been active for 85 games as a professional and has started all but four of them (he was a reserve — slowed by a back injury — during the final four games of his rookie season). Besides playing his right guard spot in '81, Cross also played center and snapped for the punting team following an injury to Fred Quillan's hand in the Green Bay game (10-18), and in that capacity participated in two solo tackles at Pittsburgh (11-1) and two assists vs. Atlanta (11-8). Cross was the team's top choice (2A) in the 1976 draft and he immediately became the squad's starting center until an ankle injury sidelined him in 1978. When he came back in '79, he was moved to right guard because of the rapid development of Quillan.

COLLEGE: Cross played both guard and center (many times both positions in the same game) and started every game in his junior and senior seasons at UCLA. He was AP and UPI All-America at guard as a senior.

PERSONAL: Cross was the California high school state champion in the shot put, besides being a standout gridder at Encino's Crespi High. He was born Randall Laureat Cross in Brooklyn, N.Y., before moving to Tarzana, Calif., as a youth. He and his wife, Patrice, make their home in Redwood City, Calif. (training home of the 49ers). Randy earned a degree in political science from UCLA in 1976. Of all the Niners, Cross is probably most involved in community affairs, charitable organizations and fund raising efforts . . . the main reason he was selected the 49ers' NFL Man-of-the-Year and District Man-of-the-Year by Toastmasters International in 1981. His NFL statistics include one fumble recovery in 1976 and two in 1979.

STATS: Regular season games/starts — 1976 (14/10), 1977 (14/14), 1978 (9/9), 1979 (16/16), 1980 (16/16), 1981 (16/16), Career (85/81). Postseason games/starts — 1981 (3/3).

CROSS' NFL HONORS: All-Rookie - 1976, All-NFC - 1981, Pro Bowl - 1982, All-Pro - 1981.

Johnny Davis • 38

FULLBACK • ALABAMA • 5TH YEAR
HT: 6-1 • WT: 235 • BORN: 7-17-56 • (TRADE IN '81)

PRO: "The best trades in the NFL," said Coach-GM Bill Walsh as he acquired Johnny Davis from Tampa Bay (for James Owens), "are the trades that help both clubs." Based on that criteria, no one will argue that the Davis-for-Owens deal (8-31-81) was a good one. While Owens was finding a home in the Bucs' backfield, Davis finished the season as the 49ers' third leading scorer and third leading rusher with 42 points and 297 yards, respectively. Johnny saw action in all 19 games (five as a starter), though he played twice just on field goal units due to a calf muscle injury (at Pittsburgh -

11-1 and vs. Atlanta 11-8), and only on special teams over the initial three games of the season. Davis played fullback for the 49ers for the first time vs. New Orleans (9-27) and responded with 48 yards rushing and a score in 11 carries. He scored touchdowns in seven games, including each of the first four games he played in as a fullback. His best rushing effort was 65 yards in 16 carries at Green Bay (in Milwaukee, 10-18) with a long of 14 yards and one TD. The highlight to Johnny's postseason play was carrying the ball just once in the NFC Championship Game against Dallas (1-10) for just two yards and a touchdown. His seven TDs in '81 (not counting his playoff score) bettered his previous career total of six TDs in 46 games with Tampa Bay. Davis was originally drafted in the second round of 1978 by the Bucs and gained 721 yards in three seasons there. He was slowed in '80 by an ankle injury. His career bests in the NFL are all from Tampa Bay: Most Rushing Yards (73 vs Buffalo — 11-19-78), Most Rushes (18 vs. Buffalo — 11-19-78), Longest Run (18 at New York Giants — 10-7-79 & vs. New Orleans 12-17-78).

COLLEGE: Davis led Alabama in rushing for three straight seasons (1975-76-77) and had the third and seventh best rushing seasons in Tide history (931 in '77 and 820 in '75). He gained 2,519 yards on 447 carries for 19 touchdowns in four years under "Bear" Bryant, and finished third on Bama's all-time career charts behind Johnny Musso and Bobby Marlow. Johnny was 2nd Team All-SEC in '75 and 1st Team All-SEC in 1977.

PERSONAL: He was born Johnny Lee Davis in Montgomery, Ala., and was a standout athlete in football and track (five-year letterman) at Sidney Lanier High School in Montgomery. Davis played fullback and linebacker for Lanier and was named Schoolboy All-America as he rushed for 1,139 yards (187 in one game) as a senior. An accomplished piano player, he won the rookie talent contest in 1978 at Tampa Bay. Johnny began playing the piano in ninth grade because he "couldn't sing well enough to be a member of his church's junior choir." He studied with the University of Alabama jazz ensemble and performed with the University Gospel Choir on Sundays. He has performed publicly several times in the San Francisco Bay Area. Davis married Terry Thompson of Cleveland, Ohio, this past off-season (6-26-82).

Hall of Fame

Three members of San Francisco's "Million Dollar Backfield" of the mid-1950s are enshrined in Pro Football's Hall of Fame. They are Y.A. Tittle, Joe Perry and Hugh McElhenny. Another member of that same team, tackle Leo Nomellini, is also a member of the Hall of Fame.

Fred Dean • 74

DEFENSIVE END • LOUISIANA TECH • 8TH YEAR
HT: 6-2 • WT: 236 • BORN: 2-28-52 • (TRADE IN '81)

PRO: Until Fred Dean retires from professional football, he'll probably not win any popularity contests among NFL quarterbacks. One of the great pass rushers in the history of the game, Fred was the leader of the 49ers' "Dean-fence" (as the fans called it) in 1981 with 12 sacks for 106½ yards in losses. His seven-year total, dating back to 1975, is an amazing 65½ sacks for an impressive 551½ yards in losses (plus 3½ sacks for 17 yards in postseason play). Popular? Probably not. Respected? For certain! "He's all-world. He has speed and quickness and so many moves," says New York Giants left tackle Jeff Weston. Dennis Harrah of the Los Angeles Rams agrees: "Dean is the greatest pass rusher in history!" Doug France of the Rams qualifies his teammate's praise: "He's the best in the league currently, anyway." "Many teams have problems with their pass rush, but with Lean Fred Dean in there, the 49ers don't have any problems," points out "Mean" Joe Greene of Pittsburgh Steelers fame. How do you stop a guy like Dean, if all this is true? "With poison darts and a blowgun, I suppose," jokes Harrah. Fred originally came into the NFL as the 2B (33rd player taken) draft pick of San Diego in 1975. He played 85 games with the Chargers before being traded to San Francisco (10-2-81) for a second round pick in '83 and the option for the Chargers to exchange first-round drafting positions with the Niners that same year. Since joining the squad in time for his debut against Dallas (10-11), Dean has played in only one losing effort with the 49ers (15-12 final vs. Cleveland — 11-15-81) against 13 wins. Dean had 7½ sacks in his first three 49ers' contests for 64 yards, including a 4½-sack, 37-yard performance against the Rams (10-25). One of his top '81 showings was at New Orleans (12-20) where he had five solo tackles, one assist and two sacks for 21 yards. He was named Pro Football Weekly's Defensive Player-of-the-Week for his efforts vs. the Rams (10-25). His honors for '81 included: the Pro Bowl, UPI and College & Pro Football Newsweekly All-NFC, NEA 2nd Team All-NFL, and All-NFL by AP, Pro Football Writers Association, The Sporting News, Pro Football Weekly, and Football Digest. UPI named Fred Defensive Player-of-the-Year in the NFC and the Players Association tagged him the NFL's Outstanding Defensive Lineman-of-the-Year, while the Kansas City 101 Committee chose him as the NFC Defensive Player-of-the-Year.

COLLEGE: Fred was an All-Southland Conference linebacker all four of his years at Louisiana Tech in Ruston, La., on a team that won 44 of 48 games.

PERSONAL: Born Frederick Rudolph Dean in Arcadia, La., he was a standout athlete at Ruston (La.) High School. Dean lives in San Diego during the offseason. An accomplished singer, he and Johnny Davis (piano) were the main entertainment at the 49ers' 1981 Club Christmas Party. He also writes poetry, and has a great sense of humor; for example, this is his response to weightlifting — "Every now and then, I get an urge to lift weights . . . and I just go somewhere and lie down until I get over it." To which

Anthony Munoz of the Bengals once responded, "Still, he's the strongest guy I've faced."

Walt Downing • 62

CENTER-GUARD • MICHIGAN • 5TH YEAR
HT: 6-3 • WT: 270 • BORN: 6-11-56 • (D-2 IN '78)

PRO: "Walt Downing is versatile," says 49ers' Coach-GM Bill Walsh. "He is a back-up at right and left guard and at center. Walt worked hard to improve from 1980 to '81 and we hope that trend continues into 1982." Downing played in all 19 games for San Francisco in '81, and when the flu-bug hit starting center Fred Quillan, Walt was called upon to finish the Houston game (12-13). A week later, he played nearly the entire New Orleans contest (12-20). Also a center-guard at Michigan, Walt was drafted in the second round of 1978 by the Niners as a guard. He started 14 of 16 games in 1978 and was named to the UPI All-Rookie Team. In 1979, when Walsh took over the 49ers' reins, Downing was switched to center and has backed up both positions since. "Walt works hard in the off-season," says Offensive Line Coach Bobb McKittrick. "He is intelligent and he hustles. And that goes a long way with his strength and hard work."

COLLEGE: Walt was an All-Big Ten selection as both a junior and a senior, and was co-captain (along with fellow 49er Dwight Hicks) of Michigan's Rose Bowl team as a senior. He also earned All-America honors for the Wolverines in 1977, as a center.

PERSONAL: Downing was born in Coatesville, Pa., and attended high school there. He earned his bachelor of science degree from Michigan in '78. He and his wife, Sue (former Susan R. Munt), have one daughter, Kristen Rae Downing (2-13-81), and call Mountain View, Calif., their home. His pro stats include two kickoff returns for 13 yards and one fumble recovery, all in 1978.

STATS: Regular season games/starts — 1978 (16/14), 1979 (16/0), 1980 (14/0), 1981 (16/0), Career (62/14); Postseason games/starts — 1981 (3/0).

DOWNING'S NFL HONORS: All-Rookie - 1978.

Walt Easley • 31

FULLBACK • WEST VIRGINIA • 2ND YEAR
HT: 6-1 • WT: 226 • BORN: 9-8-57 • (FA IN '81)

PRO: One of five rookie free agents to play for the World Champions in 1981, Walt Easley proved the draft experts wrong last season as he rushed for 220 yards before a knee injury restricted his play over the last five games (he finished with 224 yards on the year — 4th best on the team). "Walt must stay healthy to help us in 1982, and he should improve with experience," says Coach-GM Bill Walsh. "He has all the tools needed to be an outstanding back in the NFL. He can do many things well." Walt played in 12 regular season games. He started against Cleveland (11-15) and responded with 59 yards in 16 carries (He was injured against the Browns, however, and missed the next four games). His top performance came at Pittsburgh (11-1) when he ran for 47 yards on 14 carries, scored a TD, caught three passes for 12 yards, and even threw one pass (to Charle Young for five yards) during one scoring drive in the 17-14 win over the Steelers. Besides his 224 rushing yards on 76 carries, Easley also had 62 yards on nine receptions. He played in two of the three postseason games and contributed 15 yards in six carries. He did not play in Super Bowl XVI.

COLLEGE: Easley played fullback (1976, '77 & '80) and linebacker (1979) at West Virginia. After redshirting in '78, he started at LB in '79 and FB in '80. His defensive stats included 84 tackles (3rd best on team in '79) on 39 solo and 45 assists and three fumble recoveries. On offense, he rushed for 493 yards ('76), 447 ('77) and 841 (2nd best on team in '80) for 1,781 total. He scored 19 career TDs (eight as a senior) and caught seven passes his senior season.

PERSONAL: Born Walter Edward Easley in Charleston, W. Va., he attended Stonewall Jackson High School in Charleston. Walt is a "distant cousin" of Kenny Easley of the Seattle Seahawks. He makes Charleston his offseason home.

Keith Fahnhorst • 71

TACKLE • MINNESOTA • 9TH YEAR
HT: 6-6 • WT: 273 • BORN: 2-6-52 • (D-2A IN '74)

PRO: Keith Fahnhorst was the unsung lineman on the 49ers' World Championship roster in 1981. "Keith played up to Pro Bowl standards in '81," says Coach-GM Bill Walsh. "And, 1982 might just be the year to look for him on that Pro Bowl roster, for a long-overdue honor." Keith may be the team's "Rodney Dangerfield" among outsiders, but he is one of the "most respected" of the 49ers among team and staff members. He was the 1981 offensive captain, is the team's NFL Players Association representative, and a player with 121 games (counting playoffs) to his credit (including 62 consecutive starts — adding three postseason games — dating back to the Niners' game at Los Angeles, October 10, 1978). He has started 82 of the last 83 49ers' games. As a matter-of-fact, Keith has played in all but two games during his eight-year professional career. He was selected by San Francisco in the second round of the 1974 NFL draft as a tight end and was moved to tackle during his rookie season. "I really think Keith is Pro Bowl material," says Offensive Line Coach Bobb McKittrick. "He had an outstanding year in '81. He played against Jack Youngblood of the Rams twice and you almost had to look at the play-by-play to see that Youngblood was in the game. And, the story was the same against Ed 'Too Tall' Jones in the Dallas games. He had the most improved performance from one season to the next in '81 of any lineman I've ever seen."

COLLEGE: Keith was an All-Big Ten tight end at Minnesota and played in the East-West Shrine and Senior Bowl games. He played three seasons for the run-oriented Gophers and caught 28 passes for 416 yards and one TD. He was the team's top receiver as a senior in '73.

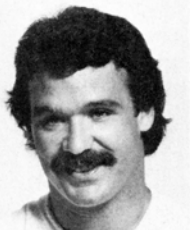

PERSONAL: "I'll die a happy man if I die right here," Fahnhorst overstated in the lockerroom following the 49ers' win in Super Bowl XVI. After Bill Ring scored during the regular season against Cincinnati (12-6), he handed Keith the ball to spike for the team. He really enjoyed the '81 season, to say the least. Only Willie Harper has been a 49er longer than Fahnhorst. Keith was born in St. Cloud, Minn., and earned all-league honors in football, basketball, and track & field at St. Cloud Technical High. Keith and his wife, Susan, have two daughters — Tiffany Dawn (6-19-79) and Brittney Brook (5-13-81). His NFL stats include one pass reception for one yard and one kickoff return for 13 yards, both in 1975. He recovered two fumbles in '81, both by Ricky Patton (vs. Atlanta — 11-8, and vs. New York Giants — 11-29). Keith holds a psychology degree from the University of Minnesota.

STATS: Regular season games/starts — 1974 (14/0), 1975 (14/3), 1976 (13/6), 1977 (14/14), 1978 (15/15), 1979 (16/16), 1980 (16/16), 1981 (16/16), Career (118/86); Postseason games/starts — 1981 (3/3); Fumble Recoveries — 1974 (2), 1975 (1), 1977 (1), 1978 (1), 1981 (2), Career (7).

Russ Francis • 81

TIGHT END • OREGON • 7TH YEAR
HT: 6-6 • WT: 242 • BORN: 4-3-53 • (TRADE IN '82)

PRO: Guess who's back? His uniform and team have changed, and maybe his outlook on the game, but after a one-year retirement from pro football, Russ Francis is back in the NFL. Francis returned to the game last spring when New England traded him to San Francisco (4-27-82) for the 49ers' No. 1 and No. 4 picks in the '82 draft. "For the first time, I'm playing football somewhere where I want to be, on a team that has fun playing the game . . . with a bunch of guys who really like each other . . . what a beautiful city, what a place to be," says Francis about his return to the ranks. "I'm excited again about football. During my year off, I gained a renewed appreciation for the game." In six seasons with the Patriots, Russ caught 196 passes for 2,996 yards and 28 TDs, and was named to the AFC squad for three Pro Bowl games. He was a first round pick by New England in 1975 (the 16th player selected overall) despite not playing collegiate football his senior year at Oregon after disagreeing with football coaching staff changes made by the administration. Francis was named to the All-Rookie Team in '75 after hauling in 35 passes as he started 11 of the team's 14 games. His first Pro Bowl season was 1976, and he followed with selections to that game after 1977 and 1978. Russ didn't play in the '79 Pro Bowl (following the '78 campaign) due to injury, however, and was replaced by Riley Odoms of Denver. He's had three 100-yard games in his career — at Buffalo (11-23-75) with seven receptions for 125 yards and one score, at Pittsburgh (9-26-76) with six catches for 139 yards and a score, and at Oakland (9-24-78) when he caught five passes for 126 yards and one TD. His single game highs entering 1982 are seven catches (at Buffalo, 11-23-75), 139 yards (at Pittsburgh, 9-24-76), and a long of 53 yards (at Oakland, 9-24-78).

COLLEGE: Russ switched from quarterback — a position he played in high school — to tight end as a freshman at Oregon. He injured his ankle as a sophomore, but returned for an All-Pac 8 and honorable mention All-America junior season. Francis ranked third among Pac-8 receivers with 31 catches and 495 yards as a junior.

PERSONAL: Born in Seattle, Wash., Russ grew up in Hawaii. He attended Kailua High School near Honolulu and Pleasant Hill High in Oregon. He wrestled and played basketball and football at Kailua before his family moved to Oregon for his senior year. At Pleasant Hill, he took up track and field, too, and by season's end he had thrown the javelin farther than any American schoolboy in history — 259 feet, 9 inches. Francis also was drafted by the Kansas City Royals (4th round in baseball out of high school). His hobbies include sky diving, scuba diving, mountain climbing, surfing, and horseback riding. Russ is licensed to fly helicopters and commercial multi-engine airplanes and enjoys doing so in his offseason homeland of Hawaii. His full name is Russell Ross Francis.

Rick Gervais • 24

SAFETY • STANFORD • 2ND YEAR
HT: 5-11 • WT: 190 • BORN: 11-4-59 • (FA IN '81)

PRO: Rick Gervais (pronounced "Ger-vus") was one of five rookie defensive backs on the 49ers' Super Bowl roster at season's end in 1981. The only non-drafted rookie, he got there the hard way. Rick signed with the 49ers in the spring following the '81 NFL draft (as a free agent) and was: waived (8-18), re-signed (8-20), waived (8-24), and re-signed (10-29). Gervais was on his way back to his home in Bend, Ore., when he was recalled the first time. He had re-enrolled at Stanford at the time of the second recall. Rick had been offered a "comeback" earlier than the October 29 re-signing, but turned it down to finish work on his college degree. When the 49ers asked again, however, he re-joined the team and arranged his class schedule around pro football. Gervais was used mostly on special teams in '81, playing in the final eight games of the regular season and all three postseason contests. He recorded six tackles during the regular slate, including three solo stops against Houston in the home finale. Rick earned his playoff bonus with four key tackles in postseason action, including three in the Super Bowl. His feature play of the season came in the closing seconds of the first half at Super Bowl XVI when he made a hit (during a kickoff to Cincinnati) that forced a fumble (recovered by fellow Stanford product Milt McColl), which led to a 49ers' field goal for a 20-0 Niners' halftime lead.

COLLEGE: Rick was an All-Pacific 10 Conference honorable mention selection in 1979 and '80 at Stanford. He finished his senior campaign with 51 tackles (8th best on the team) and was named UPI honorable mention All-West Coast. Gervais also sprinted for Stanford's track team.

PERSONAL: Gervais played quarterback and defensive back at Bend (Ore.) High School and led his prep league in scoring and rushing. Rick rushed for 211 yards and three TDs in a game once. A sprinter on the Bend track & field unit, he placed third in the 200 and fifth in the 100 in the Oregon state championship meet. Skiing and backpacking are among his hobbies. Rick earned his industrial engineering degree from Stanford (6-14-82). He was born in Bend, Ore.

Retired Jerseys

The San Francisco 49ers have officially retired six jerseys in their 32-year history. Those retired are, in order of their retirement, No. 34, Joe "The Jet" Perry; No. 39, Hugh McElhenny; No. 73, Leo Nomellini; No. 12, John Brodie; No. 70 Charlie Krueger; No. 37 Jimmy Johnson.

John Harty • 75

DEFENSIVE TACKLE • IOWA • 2ND YEAR
HT: 6-4 • WT: 263 • BORN: 12-17-58 • (D-2A IN '81)

PRO: "Experience" is the key word in describing John Harty's 1981 NFL rookie season. "John started slowly but matured by mid-season and played well during the latter half of the schedule," explains Coach-GM Bill Walsh. "He should be a big factor in 1982." Harty played in 14 regular season games and all three postseason contests to finish with nine tackles (plus three solo stops in the playoffs). His best single game performance was in the season finale at New Orleans (12-20) when he recorded five tackles, including two solo tackles. The two games he sat out were at Green Bay (in Milwaukee — 10-18) and at Pittsburgh (11-1). "Harty may just rival for a starting job this year," says Walsh. "He is an all-out, relentless performer and extremely powerful. He may see more action in 1982 as he develops his skills as a tackle. At Iowa, John was primarily a defensive end."

COLLEGE: John was named to several 2nd Team All-America squads in 1980 as a senior at Iowa (including UPI, NEA and College and Pro Football Newsweekly) and he earned All-Big Ten honors in each of his four seasons, including UPI 1st Team selection in '80. Harty had 58 tackles as a senior and 65 in his junior season. The '80 captain of the Hawkeyes, he played in the Blue-Gray and Japan Bowl games to top off his career, after 232 career tackles at Iowa.

PERSONAL: John and his wife, Monica, live in Mountain View. He was born in Sioux City, Iowa, and was a standout in football, basketball, and track & field (winning two letters in each) at Heelan High in Sioux City. He was all-state in prep football.

Willie Harper • 59

LINEBACKER • NEBRASKA • 9TH YEAR
HT: 6-2 • WT: 215 • BORN: 7-30-50 • (D-2 IN '73)

PRO: Willie Harper has been a member of the 49ers longer than any player on the 1982 roster. He was drafted in the second round of 1973 (41st player selected) and celebrates his 10th anniversary in the league this season (he missed 1978 on injured reserve). Willie has played in 116 games for the 49ers (counting playoffs) and has started 83 of them under six different head coaches. He started all 19 games in '81 and finished with 72 tackles, giving him 577 for his career. "Willie Harper had his best season as a professional in '81," praises Coach-GM Bill Walsh. "He played well as both a run defender and a pass defender. He was especially strong against sweeps." "Willie has been playing like an All-Pro. He has tremendous strength for his weight," says Linebackers Coach Norb Hecker. Willie agrees that '81 was his best year in the NFL and expects '82 to be as good, or better: "We finally have a strong defense. We have so much talent on defense, more so than I've ever been surrounded by, that my talents have finally surfaced. And, I became a born again Christian in February of 1981. My mind is at ease and I have a clear conscience about things. That enables me to concentrate my energies on the important things — my family, my life, my job. . . ." Harper's better games in '81 were versus Chicago (9-13) with 10 tackles (including six solo) and the NFC Championship Game (1-10) with eight tackles (including four solo). Willie also had seven tackles and a fumble recovery at Detroit (9-6) and six solo tackles and a fumble recovery in Super Bowl XVI (1-24). His personal best tackling total was in 1977 at New Orleans (11-13) when he was in on 12 stops.

COLLEGE: Harper was a two-time (1971 and '72) All-Big Eight and consensus All-America ('71 and '72) defensive end for Nebraska. He played running back and middle guard prior to moving to DE for the Cornhuskers. His Nebraska teams had outstanding records of 9-2 (1969), 11-0-1 (1970), 13-0 (1971), and 9-2-1 (1972). Willie played in the Senior Bowl after setting the UN career mark for tackles with 178 (including 90 unassisted and 40 for losses totaling 258 yards).

PERSONAL: Willie, who was born Willie Miles Harper in Toledo, Ohio, was a football, basketball and track & field standout at J.W. Scott High School in Toledo. He and his wife, Roxanne, have four children — Terrell (8-30-66), Willie (10-1-72), Qiava (12-13-75), and William (8-18-81), and make their home in Belmont, Calif. Willie has his B.S. degree in education (1973) from Nebraska, and he is active in several charitable organizations, including the NFL's United Way efforts. Harper missed the 1978 season because of a knee injury.

Dwight Hicks • 22

SAFETY

HT: 6-1

• WT: 189

MICHIGAN

• BORN: 4-5-56

4TH YEAR

• (FA IN '79)

PRO: Dwight Hicks had a great year in 1981. He set records, earned honors, made a name for himself in the NFL, and headlined one of the most popular groups to come out of the San Francisco Bay Area in years: "Dwight Hicks and The Hot Licks". "Hicks and the Licks" had some great hits in '81 but their pictures probably will never appear on the cover of Rolling Stone. You see, they don't sing or dance, they play football. Hicks' group played the secondary for the 49ers through the 20 weeks of 1981, plus three encore performances in early '82. He formed the group last summer with youngsters Ronnie Lott, Eric Wright and Carlton Williamson. Together, they intercepted 24 enemy passes (the team total of 27 was the most by a 49ers' squad since 1951) and returned four of them for scores during the regular season (adding four more with one for a score in the playoffs). They defended 92 passes, forced seven fumbles and recovered nine fumbles during the regular season (adding 15 defended passes, one fumble recovery and two forced fumbles during postseason). And Hicks was a pacesetter all year. He intercepted nine passes (2nd in NFC & 3rd in NFL) for 239 yards (No. 1 in NFL), including a long return of 72 yards (7th in NFC & 9th in NFL) with one TD (3rd in NFC & 5th in NFL). His nine thefts were the second most in a season in team history. Dwight also recovered three fumbles and returned one 80 yards for a score at Washington (10-4). He finished the year with 19 punt returns (15th in NFC & 26th in NFL) for 171 yards and a 9.4 average (6th in NFC & 11th in NFL) with a long of 39 yards (11th in NFC & 18th in NFL). He set four team marks — MOST INTERCEPTION RETURN YARDS-SEASON (239), MOST RETURN YARDS-GAME (184 at Washington 10-4 on 104 interception and 80 fumble), MOST INTERCEPTION RETURN YARDS-GAME (104 at Washington 10-4) and LONGEST FUMBLE RETURN (80 yards at Washington 10-4). Hicks started all 19 games and had 10 solo tackles at Los Angeles (10-25). He was named Pro Football Weekly's Defensive Player-of-the-Week for his play at Washington (10-4) when he intercepted two passes (72 & 32t) for 104 yards and a TD, returned a fumble 80 yards for another score, had two solo tackles and defended two passes. Hicks was signed by the 49ers (10-24-79) after two other attempts at making it in the NFL. He was drafted by Detroit in the sixth round of 1978 and released (8-15-78); played in Canada (9-16-78 through 10-14-78); signed with Philadelphia (12-28-78) as a free agent; and was released (8-28-79), before finally finding a home with the 49ers. His 1981 honors included: the Pro Bowl, UPI All-NFC, AP and NEA 2nd Team All-NFL, and Pro Football Weekly All-NFL.

COLLEGE: Dwight was a four-year letterman at the University of Michigan, playing in 38 wins, two ties and only seven losses there. He was defensive captain for the '77 Wolverine team that played in the '78 Rose Bowl (49ers' teammate Walt Downing was the offensive captain). Michigan played in two Rose Bowls and an Orange Bowl during Hicks' tenure in Ann Arbor. He was named All-Big Ten in 1977.

PERSONAL: Hicks was born in Mount Holly, N.J., and grew up in Pennsauken, N.J. He attended Pennsauken High School and was a standout in football, basketball and baseball. Dwight and his wife (formerly Josefa Salinas) have one daughter, Pareess Salinas-Hicks (7-11-81); make their home in Palo Alto, Calif.; and have been involved in professional modeling. He also has interests in broadcast journalism as an offseason profession and as a future career.

Bob Horn • 55

LINEBACKER • OREGON STATE • 7TH YEAR
HT: 6-4 • WT: 230 • BORN: 2-6-54 • (TRADE IN '82)

PRO: The latest of a growing number of former San Diego Chargers on the 49ers' roster, linebacker Bob Horn came to the Bay Area in June (6-9-82), after six seasons in San Diego. He joins Dan Audick, John Choma, Fred Dean, Amos Lawrence, and Ray Wersching as 49ers with Chargers' backgrounds. A 4A draft pick (94th player selected) by San Diego in 1976, Bob was the only player on the Chargers' defensive unit to start every game for his team in 1978, '79 and '80 (49 consecutive games). That streak was broken last season when a preseason back injury kept him out of the starting lineup until the final 11 games of the campaign. Horn led the Chargers in total tackles in '78 with 117, and finished second on the team in '79 and '80 with 118 and 111, respectively. In 1981, he finished with 103 tackles (keyed by a 21-total tackle effort at Chicago — 10-25), sixth best on the roster. "Horn was an excellent acquisition for us," says Coach-GM Bill Walsh. "He has range and intelligence and has played in some very important games for the Chargers in recent seasons. The addition of Bob gives us excellent depth at inside linebacker."

COLLEGE: Horn was named the team MVP and earned All-Pacific Coast honors at Oregon State in 1975 when he recorded 163 tackles, 117 of which were solo stops. Bob played in the Blue-Gray Classic and the East-West Shrine game to top off a fine Beaver career. He also threw the shot put for the OSU track team with a personal best of 53-2.

PERSONAL: He was born Robert Allen Horn in Salem, Ore., and is one of four children (he has three sisters). His parents both work for Pacific Northwest Bell in Salem. Horn attended South Salem High, and is married to his "childhood friend and sweetheart" Cyndee. Bob is an old film buff (Humphrey Bogart films and early comedies), has a degree in horticulture from Oregon State, and loves sculpting as a hobby.

Allan Kennedy • 66

TACKLE • WASHINGTON STATE • 2ND YEAR
HT: 6-7 • WT: 270 • BORN: 1-8-58 • (FA IN '81)

PRO: At 6-7, 270 pounds, Allan Kennedy was the biggest player on the field in Super Bowl XVI (one of the biggest ever to play in a Super Bowl) and he could be a big player for the 49ers in 1982 as well. He played in only six games in 1981 (three regular season and three postseason) but improved with each outing. Kennedy originally was drafted 10B by the Washington Redskins out of Washington State in 1981 and released. He was claimed as a free agent by San Francisco in September (9-9) and immediately placed on injured reserve (9-12) due to a hand injury (severed fingertip). He spent nearly the entire season on injured reserve before being called up (12-3) to add depth to the offensive line when Pete Kugler was placed on injured reserve. Kennedy was used mostly on kicking teams, but didn't seem to mind: "This situation is perfect," says Kennedy. "I knew I would need a year or two to develop and being a backup with the 49ers is just great. The coaching is the best I've ever had and with hard work and dedication, I can eventually earn a starting job." To which offensive line Coach Bobb McKittrick adds, "He's an NFL tackle, I'm sure of it. It's just a matter of time until Allan becomes a starter."

COLLEGE: Kennedy earned 2nd Team and honorable mention All-America honors his last two years at Washington State University. A five-year player who was redshirted in 1977 after tearing ankle ligaments versus Michigan State, Kennedy started all four of his seasons with the Cougars. An All-Pac 10 (1979) and All-West Coast selection in '79 and '80, Allan was the 1980 team co-captain and played in the Japan Bowl to finish off his WSU career.

PERSONAL: Allan was born in Vancouver, BC, and has Canadian citizenship. He earned his criminal justice degree from WSU in June, 1981. He played three years of varsity football at El Camino Real High School in Woodland Hills, Calif., and was All-Valley, all-league, and 2nd Team All-Los Angeles. Allan was also an outstanding shot putter at El Camino Real and was a scholar-athlete selection for both sports. He is single and lives in San Mateo, Calif.

STATS: Regular season games/starts — 1981 (3/0); Postseason games/starts — 1981 (3/0).

Pete Kugler • 67

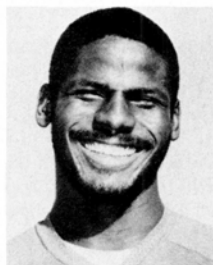

DEFENSIVE TACKLE • PENN STATE • 2ND YEAR
HT: 6-4 • WT: 255 • BORN: 8-9-59 • (D-6 IN '81)

PRO: Pete Kugler had a fair rookie season — not without his problems, but okay by most measures — and is being looked to for bigger and better contributions in 1982. "Pete is a powerful man. He's extremely skilled and highly intelligent. He also is a great competitor. You can look for him to compete for a starting position at any of the three defensive line posts . . . tackle, nose tackle, or end in 1982," says Coach-GM Bill Walsh. Kugler played in 13 games after being drafted in Round 6 of 1981 and finished with 12 tackles (nine solo/three assists), one forced fumble, and one sack for six yards. He was placed on injured reserve (12-3) for the final three regular season games and the postseason due to a pulled hamstring muscle. His top performance was at Atlanta (9-20) when he had two solo tackles and one assist.

COLLEGE: Pete played both offense and defense for Penn State. He played his first two seasons as a back-up to All-America performers Bruce Clark and Matt Millen at defensive tackle before switching to offense in the spring of 1979. He started the first eight games on offense in '79 and the final three plus a bowl game on defense. Pete played DT his entire senior season. Penn State played in four bowl games during Kugler's tenure: Fiesta ('77), Sugar (following '78), Liberty ('79), and Fiesta ('80), and Pete played in the Hula and Japan bowls following his Nittany Lions' career.

PERSONAL: A native of Cherry Hill, N.J., Pete's father is the former New Jersey Attorney General under Governor William Cahill. He wrestled, played baseball, and earned All-America honors in football at Cherry Hill High School. He majored in finance at Penn State.

Amos Lawrence • 20

RUNNING BACK • NORTH CAROLINA • 2ND YEAR
HT: 5-10 • WT: 179 • BORN: 1-9-58 • (TRADE IN '81)

PRO: "Famous" Amos Lawrence is a big-play player. Drafted by San Diego 4A (104th player selected) in 1981, the Chargers couldn't come to terms with Lawrence and he was traded to the 49ers (9-10) for a fourth round draft choice in 1984. The Niners signed Lawrence but he was not activated until Game No. 4 (as the NFL gave San Francisco a roster exemption to allow Amos time to get into playing shape since he had not reported to San Diego's training camp — as a holdout over salary negotiations). He was activated Sept. 9 and played in 13 regular season games and all three postseason contests. His statistics included 13 carries for 48 yards and three receptions for 10 yards while seeing little action in the backfield. Lawrence played mostly on special teams where he had five tackles, one forced fumble (vs. Cleveland 11-15) and 17 kickoff returns for 437 yards and a 25.7 average (2nd in NFC & 3rd in NFL) with a long of 92t (2nd in NFC & 4th in NFL) during the regular season. His postseason stats included special teams play only with seven kick returns for 165 yards, a fumble recovery (vs. Dallas 1-10) and three tackles. Lawrence had a game breaker at Los Angeles (11-22 in Anaheim) when he opened the second half with the 92-yard kickoff return for a score (12th longest in 49ers' history).

COLLEGE: Amos was the second runner in NCAA history to rush for at least 1,000 yards in each of four seasons (Tony Dorsett was the first). Lawrence had 4,391 career yards for the ninth highest rushing total in collegiate history. He had 24 100-yard-plus rushing days for North Carolina (the Tar Heels were 21-2-1 in those contests), and he ended his career as MVP in the East-West Shrine Game.

PERSONAL: Born Amos Lawrence Jr., in Norfolk, Va., he was Parade Magazine's National High School Back-of-the-Year following his senior season at Lake Taylor High School in Norfolk. He scored 49 TDs in 26 high school games for the Titans and rushed for 411 yards and five scores in a game once. Amos married the former Ponsella Brown (5-16) during this past offseason.

Bobby Leopold • 52

LINEBACKER • NOTRE DAME • 3RD YEAR
HT: 6-1 • WT: 215 • BORN: 10-18-57 • (D-8 IN '80)

PRO: "Bobby Leopold is a talented, situation type player. An outstanding pass defender and a fine open field tackler, he was invaluable last season in the nickel defense," says Coach-GM Bill Walsh. "He is a little like Fred Dean in that he's a guy who does better when not asked to play every down, but he certainly helps you in the right situation." Leopold, who was drafted in Round 8 in 1980, played in all 19 games in '81 and started two regular season contests (vs. Cleveland 11-15, and at New Orleans 12-20), plus the Super Bowl. He finished with 65 tackles (8th best on the team), including 42 solo tackles, five passes defended and two fumble recoveries among his '81 stats. In the playoffs, Bobby had a fumble recovery (vs. the New York Giants 1-3) and an interception for five yards (vs. Dallas 1-10). His best game in 1981 was vs. New Orleans (9-27) when he recorded seven solo tackles and one assist. He also had eight tackles at Los Angeles (11-12) on three solo stops and five assists. Leopold started Super Bowl XVI (because of the first down defense being deployed) and responded with seven tackles, including six unassisted hits. The best games of in '80 when he was a starter were at New Orleans (9-7) with eight tackles (including seven solo); at Detroit (11-2) with two fumble recoveries and three solo stops; and vs. the New York Giants (11-23) with six tackles, 2½ sacks for eight yards and an interception for 13 yards. On his way to earning All-Rookie honors in '80, Bobby recorded 88 tackles.

COLLEGE: Leopold was a four-year letterman at Notre Dame and accounted for 180 career tackles, including 66 as a senior. He had six career interceptions and returned three for TDs, and played in the East-West Shrine Game in 1980 to top off his Fighting Irish career.

PERSONAL: Born Leroy J. Leopold, Jr., in Port Arthur, Tex., Bobby attended Lincoln High School in Port Arthur. He stood out in football (three-year captain), basketball and track & field, and was taught biology by his father, who also coached the offensive line on the grid squad. Leopold earned his economics degree in May of 1980 from Notre Dame and now calls Mountain View, Calif., his offseason home.

Ronnie Lott • 42

CORNERBACK

HT: 6-0

• WT: 199

• USC

• BORN: 5-8-59

• 2ND YEAR

• (D-1 IN '81)

PRO: As 1981 unfolded, experts began saying Ronnie Lott might just be the finest rookie cornerback in the history of the NFL. And when the '81 season came to an end, there was little doubt about it. In '81, Lott made every conceivable all-star team from All-Rookie to All-Pro. He rivaled New York's Lawrence Taylor for Defensive Rookie-of-the-Year honors (although Taylor was voted the award) as both young defenders pushed George Rogers of New Orleans for the overall Rookie-of-the-Year award. Lott finished second behind Jack Reynolds in tackles for the 49ers with 89 (52 solo), and he had seven interceptions (6th in NFC & 7th in NFL) for 117 yards (10th in NFC & 17th in NFL) and three scores (No. 1 in NFL). He added 16 tackles (12 solo), and two interceptions for 32 yards and a score in the playoffs. In returning three interceptions for TDs, Ronnie became only the second rookie in league annals to accomplish such a feat (Lem Barney did the same thing for Detroit as a rookie in 1967). Only two other players in NFL history have had more than three season scores on interceptions (Ken Houston of Houston in 1971 and Jim Kearney of Kansas City in 1972) and both had just four. Lott set a 49ers' single season record with those three TD thefts and tied the club's career mark in that area (set by Rex Berry with one each in 1953, '54 and '55 — Lott's postseason interception TD doesn't count in his career totals). He also had 22 passes defended, two fumble recoveries and four forced fumbles on the year (plus two more defended passes in postseason). His finest game was at Cincinnati (12-6) when he was named Pro Football Weekly's Defensive Player-of-the-Week for his efforts — 10 tackles (six solo), one interception for 13 yards, two defended passes, and two forced Bengal fumbles. Ronnie recorded nine tackles against Detroit in the opener (9-6) in the Silverdome, and nine more against Los Angeles (10-25) and New Orleans (12-20), including eight solo tackles. No wonder he drew praise such as: "Lott set the tone for San Francisco's great season" (Chuck Noll of the Pittsburgh Steelers); "Ronnie is in the same mold as Gale Sayers, Dick Butkus and Tom Mack . . . an overnight NFL sensation." (former NFL coach George Allen); "He's a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde and a great player" (teammate Dwight Hicks); "He will go down as one of the finest to play the game. He has all the tools and talents and he doesn't have a conscience, he'll gamble on anything" (CBS commentator Tom Brookshier); and "Many felt he deserved defensive rookie-of-the-year honors and more. He has proven to be a dynamic football player, an outstanding leader, the consummate, ever-improving performer" (49ers' Coach-GM Bill Walsh).

COLLEGE: Lott was a consensus All-America before being the eighth player selected in the 1981 NFL draft. The All-Pac 10 performer was USC's MVP in 1980 and won the award as the team's Most Inspirational Player as well. He had 86 tackles in 1980, 250 for his four-year Trojan career. He ranked second in the nation and No. 1 in the Pac-10 in '80 with eight interceptions for 166 yards (giving him 14 for his career, two for TDs). He also had three fumble recoveries (10 in his career) and 16 defended passes (37 in his career) during his senior season. In addition, Lott played basketball for the Trojans as a junior in 1979-80. He topped his grid career with appearances in the Hula and Japan bowls.

PERSONAL: Ronnie was born in Albuquerque, N.M., and earned his public administration degree from USC in 1981. A product of Rialto, Calif., and Eisenhower High School there, he was an All-Citrus Belt League pick at three different positions (defensive back, quarterback, and wide receiver). Lott also was all-league in basketball (three years) as a guard and two years in baseball (shortstop). As a senior, he was Citrus Belt League Player-of-the-Year and unanimous All-America. He is single and lives in Santa Clara. Ronnie was selected to represent the 49ers and the NFL in the annual USO European Tour (Germany) last summer and his '81 honors included the Pro Bowl, All-NFC (UPI, College and Pro Football Newsweekly), All-NFL (AP, Pro Football Writers Association, NEA, The Sporting News, Pro Football Weekly, Football Digest, Sports Illustrated), and All-Rookie (UPI, PFWA, Football Digest). He was seventh in Football Digest's NFL Player-of-the-Year voting.

Saladin Martin • 29

CORNERBACK • SAN DIEGO STATE • 3RD YEAR
HT: 6-1 • WT: 180 • BORN: 1-17-56 • (FA IN '81)

PRO: Saladin Martin (pronounced "Sal-la-dean" Martin), getting a shot with his third professional football team, played his first full NFL season in 1981. And, he performed like a veteran. "Sal is a fine cover man and a great team player. He is truly a dedicated football player and his hard work paid off for him in '81," says Coach-GM Bill Walsh. "Sal has tremendous enthusiasm and that carries over into his style of play and team support." Martin signed originally as a free agent with the New York Giants in 1979 (6-20), was released (8-20), and signed as a free agent with the New York Jets the next year (6-23-80). He spent time on the Jets' injured reserve list (8-25 through 10-19) and was re-signed after clearing procedural waivers (10-21). He played briefly in three games for the Jets in '80, but was released the next month with no stats (11-14) and was signed by San Francisco last summer (6-19-81). Martin appeared in 15 regular season games in 1981 and the NFC Championship contest against Dallas (1-10). He had 18 tackles (14 solo), defended 10 passes and recorded the first interception of his NFL career (vs. Atlanta 11-8). Sal was used primarily at left cornerback when the 49ers shifted into one of their five and/or six DB alignments.

COLLEGE: Martin's collegiate background includes stints at both San Diego City College and San Diego State University.

PERSONAL: Saladin was born in San Diego, Calif., and attended Lincoln High School there. During the offseason, Sal worked out at San Diego State and aided in coaching the Aztecs in spring football.

"Name" Backfields

The San Francisco 49ers have been known for their "name" backfields. From 1954 through 1956 it was "The Million Dollar Backfield" of Y.A. Tittle, Joe Perry, Hugh McElhenny and John Henry Johnson. Then, in 1960, came "The Alphabet Backfield" of Y.A. Tittle, J.D. Smith, R.C. Owens and C.R. Roberts.

Milt McColl • 53

LINEBACKER • STANFORD • 2ND YEAR
HT: 6-6 • WT: 220 • BORN: 8-28-59 • (FA IN '81)

PRO: Milt McColl was one of three non-drafted rookie free agents who made the 49ers' World Championship roster in 1981 (the others were Walt Easley of West Virginia and Rick Gervais, McColl's collegiate teammate from Stanford). And the trio played key roles in San Francisco's Super Bowl season. McColl, for example, played in 19 games — mainly on special teams — and finished the campaign with 19 tackles (13 solo/six assists). He had one sack for nine yards (at Detroit 9-6), and recorded his first professional interception at Washington (10-4), running it back 22 yards. Milt had five tackles vs. Houston (12-13), including three solo stops. In the playoffs, McColl had four tackles and participated in one of the feature plays of Super Bowl XVI. Just before the half came to a close, Ray Wersching squib kicked to Cincinnati, Gervais tackled the kick returner with such power that he forced a fumble which McColl recovered. The 49ers ended the half on the next play as Wersching booted a field goal for the 20-0 halftime lead.

COLLEGE: McColl played two seasons at Stanford for 49ers' Linebackers Coach Norb Hecker and San Francisco Coach-GM Bill Walsh. He was an Academic All-America selection in 1979 and 2nd Team All-Pac 10, UPI honorable mention All-West Coast, and The Sporting News honorable mention All-America in 1980. Milt, who played in the Hula Bowl to finish off his Cardinal career, had 52 tackles, four sacks, eight tackles-for-loss (27 yards), two forced fumbles, and two fumble recoveries as a senior. He skipped spring football his senior year to study at Stanford's overseas campus in Cliveden, England.

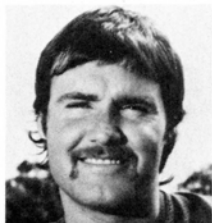

PERSONAL: One of eight McColls to attend Stanford University, Milt was born in Oak Park, Ill. He was honorable mention All-America and All-CIF at South Hills High School in Covina, Calif. He captained his prep basketball team and earned all-league honors in track and volleyball. McColl was valedictorian of his high school class and was named San Gabriel Valley Scholar-Athlete-of-the-Year. His mother (Barbara '53) and his father (Bill '52) and several brothers and sisters are Stanford grads. Milt graduated on-time in human biology at Stanford and completed his first year at Stanford Medical School while playing with the 49ers in 1981. His father was an All-America defensive end in 1950-51 and his brother (Duncan) was an All-America defensive end in 1976 for Stanford. The senior McColl played with the Chicago Bears and Duncan played briefly in the NFL with the Washington Redskins.

Jim Miller • 3

PUNTER • MISSISSIPPI • 3RD YEAR
HT: 5-11 • WT: 183 • BORN: 7-5-57 • (D-3A IN '80)

PRO: "Jim Miller is capable of being one of the great punters in football," says Coach-GM Bill Walsh. "He improved dramatically in 1981 and developed into one of the more consistent punters in the league."

Drafted 3A in 1980, Miller had a good rookie season (finishing with 77 punts for 3,152 yards and a 40.9 average) and was named to several All-Rookie teams as NFL Rookie Punter-of-the-Year (including UPI, Football Digest, Pro Football Weekly, and Professional Football Writers Association). But, he was even better in 1981 with 93 punts for a team-record 3,858 yards and a 41.5 average. He had a long of 65 yards each season — in New York against the Jets (9-21) in '80 and last year vs. Houston (12-13). He had five touchbacks in '80 and 15 in '81 with 11 balls going out-of-bounds inside-the-20 as a rookie and 14 inside-in-the-20 in 1981. In the playoffs last season, Jim kicked 12 punts for 498 yards and a 41.5 average. His best two games were at Atlanta (9-20) with a 53.3 average and in Super Bowl XVI with a 46.3 average. He is the NFL's only bare-foot punter.

COLLEGE: Jim was a consensus All-America in 1979 for the Ole Miss Rebels. He averaged 43.4 yards per punt for four seasons at Mississippi and set school records for most punts (266) and yards (11,549) in a career. Miller led the SEC in punting in his junior and senior seasons with averages of 43.2 and 44.6, respectively, and his sophomore average was a whopping 45.9, both SEC and Ole Miss records. His 3,283 yards (on 76 punts in 1978) also was a Mississippi mark. Jim ranked No. 1 in the nation in 1977, No. 5 in '78 and No. 3 in '79. He was All-SEC his final three seasons and was All-America (College and Pro Football Newsweekly, 2nd Team Football News, and honorable mention by The Sporting News) in 1978 to go with his consensus honors in '79.

PERSONAL: He was born James G. Miller in Ripley, Miss., where he still makes his offseason home. Jim grew up and attended high school in Ripley before going on to the University of Mississippi. Playing for Ole Miss, Miller once kicked a ball off the scoreboard gondola at the Louisiana Superdome in New Orleans (a feat previously achieved in a game by just one other punter — Ray Guy of Oakland). He has punted barefoot all his life . . . as he usually roamed his family farm barefoot, and kicked various items around that way, including footballs, so the story goes. And Joe Montana still can't get over Miller: "How the heck can he kick the ball that high and that far barefooted?" asked a sportswriter at the practice field last year. "Yes, and without a shoe, too!" said Joe.

Joe Montana • 16

QUARTERBACK • NOTRE DAME • 4TH YEAR
HT: 6-2 • WT: 200 • BORN: 6-11-56 • (D-3 IN '79)

PRO: "Joe Montana could be 0-for-30 passing, and he'd still be our MVP!" said Randy Cross in the World Champions' lockerroom (just after Montana was named MVP of Super Bowl XVI). And, it may just have been the overstatement-of-the-year and the understatement-of-the-year rolled into one. Odds are Montana would never go 0-for-30 passing and he'll probably be "most valuable" to the 49ers for as long as he plays the game. "Joe's resourcefulness, his decisiveness, his leadership, his cool have made a big difference in our offense," says Coach-GM Bill Walsh. "As long as Joe Montana is our quarterback, we have a chance to beat anyone we play." New York Giants Coach Ray Perkins, whose team faced the 49ers twice last year, says, "as far as I know, he's the best quarterback we played against this year." Steelers Coach Chuck Noll adds, "Montana has developed into one of the best young quarterbacks in the NFL . . . he can burn you." And Jack Reynolds, who is in his 13th NFL season, simply says, "He's the best young quarterback I've ever seen." Montana was drafted in the third round of 1979 and brought along slowly, starting once in 1979, seven times in '80 and all 19 games in 1981. His NFL QB rating for 1979 was 80.9 (only six players had better ratings in '79) and his completion percentage was .565. In 1980, his progress continued with a 87.8 rating (No. 4 in NFC & No. 5 in NFL), while his completion percentage was a club record .645 (No. 1 in NFL). Then, his '81 figures included a QB rating of 88.2 (No. 1 in NFC & No. 4 in NFL) with a completion percentage of .637 (No. 1 in NFL). Montana threw for more TDs than interceptions for the third straight season and was just 87 yards shy a year ago of the team mark for most yards gained passing in a season with 3,565 (5th in NFC & 9th in NFL). Montana completed 60 third-down passes for first downs in '81 (23 of them to Dwight Clark) and clicked on a dozen third-down passes for first downs during the postseason. His longest pass completion of the campaign was a 78-yard TD strike to Dwight Clark against Dallas (10-11), and he threw three TDs in games twice (vs. Chicago 9-13 and vs. Dallas in the NFC Championship Game 1-10). Those three-score performances matched his personal career record, set against New England (11-30) in 1980. Joe threw for 304 yards (career best) against the New York Giants in a January NFC Playoff Game and had 287-yard games vs. Chicago (9-13) and Los Angeles (10-25) during the regular season, bettering his previous best of 285 vs. New Orleans (12-7) in 1980. His other personal bests are — most attempts (42) vs. Cleveland (11-15-81); most completions (27) vs. New York Giants (11-23-81); most rushes (6) vs. New York Giants (11-23-80), at Atlanta (12-14-80), and in Super Bowl XVI (1-24-82); and most yards rushing (32) at Atlanta (12-14-80). His honors in '81 included: starting QB in the Pro Bowl, All-NFC (UPI, College and Pro Football Newsweekly), and All-NFL 2nd Team (AP, NEA). Joe was runner-up for Football Digest's NFL Player-of-the-Year and he was selected Professional Athlete-of-the-Year by the Bay Area Sports Hall-of-Fame. Among other honors, he was chosen co-winner (with Ken Anderson of the Cincinnati Bengals) for the first U.S. Navy/NFL MVP Award.

COLLEGE: Montana turned down several scholarship offers and was set to go to North Carolina State on a basketball ride before Notre Dame offered him a football scholarship. During his Fighting Irish career, Montana completed 260 of 515 passes (.522 percent) for 4,121 yards and 25 touchdowns. As a senior, he completed 141 of 260 passes (.542 percent) for 2,010 yards and ten TDs, and earned national acclaim in the Cotton Bowl when he guided Notre Dame to a grand comeback against Houston. Montana brought the Irish back from a 34-12 deficit midway through the fourth period to a 35-34 win with no time showing on the clock. Notre Dame won the national championship with Joe at quarterback in 1977. He redshirted in 1976 and didn't start a full season until '78 (Joe once calculated that he was the seventh string quarterback early in his collegiate career).

PERSONAL: Born Joseph C. Montana in New Eagle, Pa., Joe attended Ringgold High School in Monongahela and was a standout in basketball, baseball and football there. He is married (former Cathleen "Cass" Castillo), and the Montanas make their home in the foothills near Woodside, Calif. The name "Montana" is Italian ("My dad says there used to be a 'g' before the last 'n'," says Joe). He calls Joe Namath (who hails from Beaver Falls, Pa., near Monongahela) his hero; and he earned his business administration/marketing degree from Notre Dame in December, 1978.

Renaldo Nehemiah • 83

WIDE RECEIVER • MARYLAND • ROOKIE
HT: 6-1 • WT: 177 • BORN: 3-24-59 • (FA IN '82)

PRO: In one of the most publicized free agent signings in the history of the National Football League, Renaldo "Skeets" Nehemiah — the world's finest hurdler of all time — became a member of the World Champion San Francisco 49ers on Friday, April 16, 1982. The 23-year-old all-around athlete, who had try-outs with several NFL clubs and sifted through a number of offers before deciding on the 49ers, signed a multi-year contract with the champions of Super Bowl XVI. Skeets and his attorney spent six weeks touring NFL camps and weighing offers before they settled on the San Francisco pact. "He is a world champion and competes in all athletic events as a world champion. That makes his joining the 49ers special. I feel confident he'll fit in here," said Coach-GM Bill Walsh on the afternoon of the press conference announcing the signing. "We realize he has been out of organized football for several years, but he looks like a football player and has proven in workouts that he can catch any type pass thrown to him. And, he will be the fastest player in football."

COLLEGE: Sought by colleges in three sports (football, basketball and track), Nehemiah selected the track program at the University of Maryland and did not play college football. In the fall of '77, he began rewriting the NCAA indoor and outdoor record books, and was ranked No. 1 in the world in the 110 meter hurdles from his first day on campus until "retiring" in April.

PERSONAL: Renaldo was born in Newark, N.J., and grew up in Scotch Plains, N.J., attending high school there. He was a high school quarterback and was voted New Jersey's Prep Athlete-of-the-Year his senior year. Skeets set the world record in his specialty (the 110 meter high hurdles) with a 12.93 clocking at the Weltklass International Track Meet in Zurich, Switzerland, August 19, 1981. He also holds four world indoor hurdles marks: 50 yards (5.92), 60 yards (6.82), 50 meters (6.36) and 55 meters (6.89). He first broke the world record outdoors at the 1979 Bruce Jenner Classic at San Jose (Calif.) City College, running a 13.16. Some of his major wins include: 1978 — AAU; 1979 — NCAA (12.91w), AAU (13.19), Pan Am Games (13.20), World Cup (13.39); 1980 — AAU/TAC (13.49), US Olympic Trials (13.26). Of the top-15 times in the world, Nehemiah owns ten of them. Skeets has won the past two U.S. Mens' Superstars competitions (an event staged for ABC TV by Trans World International each year in Florida). And it was at last year's Superstars event that Nehemiah was encouraged to give the NFL a try (by 49ers' Dwight Clark, Cincinnati's Cris Collinsworth and the Jets' Mark Gastineau).

Ricky Patton • 32

RUNNING BACK • JACKSON STATE • 5TH YEAR
HT: 5-11 • WT: 192 • BORN: 4-6-54 • (FA IN '80)

PRO: Ricky Patton had his finest professional season in 1981. He led the 49ers in rushing with 543 yards on 152 carries (201 yards more than he had in his previous three NFL campaigns combined) and he was sixth in receiving for San Francisco with 27 catches for 195 yards (both figures bettered his career totals entering 1981). Patton, who carried the ball just once for one yard in 1980 for the Niners, was signed after the seventh game of '80. He originally was drafted by Atlanta in the tenth round of 1978, released (10-6-79), signed by Green Bay (10-20-79), and released in camp (8-26-80) the next year. In 1981, Patton scored four TDs on the ground and caught one TD pass. His long reception was 31 yards (from Joe Montana vs. Chicago 9-13) and his long run was a 28-yarder against Houston (12-13) the team's longest rush of the season. Ricky's 72-yard performance against Detroit in the Silverdome (9-6) was also the team's best single game rushing performance. He started 15 of 16 games in '81 (and played in his only non-start vs. Cleveland 11-15), but missed the NFC Championship Game against Dallas with a knee injury. A highlight in his pro career came in the 1979 finale with Green Bay when he rushed for 99 yards on 19 carries at Detroit (12-15).

COLLEGE: Patton played one year at Ferris State in Michigan and transferred to Jackson State in Mississippi to finish his collegiate career. He rushed for 640 yards and a 5.6 average per carry as a senior, scoring seven TDs (five on runs from 40 yards or further out).

PERSONAL: Born Ricky Riccardo Patton in Birmingham, Ala., he was named after his mother's love for the "I Love Lucy" television series (featuring the character Ricky Riccardo). He attended Flint Southwestern High School in Flint, Mich. (and played on the same prep grid squad there as Reggie Williams of the Cincinnati Bengals). Before moving to Michigan for his junior year in high school, Ricky was reared as one of 13 children in the Patton's four-room house in Mobile, Ala. He now makes his offseason home in Lithonia, Ga. Patton is a relative of Walter (Bears) and Eddie Payton (Vikings). He replaced Walter in the backfield at Jackson State.

Lawrence Pillers • 65

DEFENSIVE END • ALCORN A&M • 7TH YEAR
HT: 6-4 • WT: 250 • BORN: 11-4-52 • (FA IN '80)

PRO: Looking back, Lawrence Pillers remembers when the 49ers claimed him the fourth week (9-25) of the season in 1980 after he was released by the New York Jets: "I felt that maybe I had died and had gone to heaven." He has been, however, anything but an angel to opponents in his two seasons with the Niners. In his 30 appearances (counting playoffs), Pillers has recorded 11½ sacks for 75 yards, and totaled 118 tackles, giving him 26 sacks and 641 tackles in his six-season NFL career (adding postseason stats). Pillers started only six games for the 49ers in '81, but appeared in 14 (missing the final two regular season games due to injury) and all three postseason games. He was tied for 10th on the team in tackles with 53 (32 solo) and was tied for second on the squad in sacks with seven for 60 yards in losses. He suffered a sprained shoulder at Cincinnati (12-6) and was forced to the sidelines for the Houston (12-13) and New Orleans (12-20) contests. Lawrence had an outstanding game in the season opener at Pontiac against Detroit (9-6) when he recorded nine tackles (six solo) and two sacks. He also had a fine showing against Green Bay in Milwaukee (10-18) with four unassisted tackles and three sacks. In the NFC Championship Game against Dallas (1-10), Pillers had two QB sacks and forced the fumble that gave San Francisco the ball back with 30 seconds remaining in the contest to assure the Niners' win and trip to Super Bowl XVI. He originally was drafted by the Jets in the 11th round of 1976 as a linebacker (at 225) but came to camp that year at 250 with the same speed (4.85 in the 40) and was moved to the line.

PILLERS Cont.

COLLEGE: Pillers was small college All-America as a defensive end at Alcorn A&M. He led a defense that topped the nation against the run as a senior (his team allowed just 159 yards on the ground in 10 games). Alcorn won the Black National Championship that season, too. He was All-Southwestern Athletic Conference three times and finished with 12 blocked punts and 15 fumble recoveries in his career.

PERSONAL: Lawrence was born in Hazlehurst, Miss., and grew up as one of 13 children. He reports to having picked cotton, pecans, and beans, and hauled pulpwood "for pocket change" as a child. A former deputy sheriff during the offseason in Port Gibson, Miss. Pillers' most frightening moment did not happen on the field, but occurred one night in Port Gibson when he was called to a club where a man had "cut up a couple of guys" and was shooting up the roof, "I stayed out in the car (after answering the call) for a long time. I just sat there until I got up my courage to go inside. The man with the rifle was standing there, blood on him and everything." So Pillers pulled out his gun and kept it pointed at the suspect until he put down his rifle. Lawrence and his wife (former Carri L. Williams) have two daughters LaCuri (11-28-76) and LaVechelle (3-19-80). A 1976 health and physical education graduate of Alcorn A&M, he now calls San Mateo, Calif., his year-'round home.

Fred Quillan • 56

CENTER • OREGON • 5TH YEAR
HT: 6-5 • WT: 260 • BORN: 1-27-56 • (D-7 IN '78)

PRO: Counting playoffs, Fred Quillan has started 58 consecutive games at center for the 49ers entering 1982. That should tell you something about his consistency and dedication. He earned an "iron man" image last year when he started the Houston game (12-13) despite a bad case of flu, and started the Los Angeles contest (10-25) despite puncturing and slicing his hand the previous week in a game against Green Bay at Milwaukee (10-18). Fred was tabbed by San Francisco in the seventh round of the 1978 NFL draft. He earned his first start for the 49ers in Game 10 of '78 at Atlanta (11-5), and has not come out of the line-up since. Quillan received that initial starting nod in '78 when Randy Cross — then the team's starting center — was injured and had to sit out part of the campaign. Cross was moved to guard upon his return to health. "Quillan has really improved at his position," says Coach-GM Bill Walsh. "He has developed into a fine center with the sharpening of the all-inclusive skills needed at that post. His secret to success, besides hard work and maturity, is the fact that he has added bulk to go with his height, and has maintained his quickness." Quillan has grown from 240 in 1978 to 260 in '82.

COLLEGE: Fred played several positions at Oregon and was named an All-West Coast center as a junior. He played mostly tackle during his senior season.

PERSONAL: Quillan was born in West Palm Beach, Fla., and grew up in Portland, Ore. He graduated from Central Catholic High School in Portland and was a three-sport athlete there. He originally was recruited as a tight end by the Ducks. He lives in San Mateo, Calif., all year long. His NFL stats include a kickoff return for eight yards in 1978.

STATS: Regular season games/starts — 1978 (14/7), 1979 (16/16), 1980 (16/16), 1981 (16/16), Career (62/55); Postseason games/starts — 1981 (3/3).

Eason Ramson • 80

TIGHT END • WASHINGTON STATE • 4TH YEAR
HT: 6-2 • WT: 234 • BORN: 4-30-56 • (FA IN '79)

PRO: Eason Ramson had a frustrating year in 1981 when he caught only four passes (all in the final three games of the campaign) and spent five games — Nos. 3 through 7 — on injured reserve. He hopes 1982 will be kinder to him. "Eason has been hampered by a series of minor injuries, just enough to slow his progress," says Coach-GM Bill Walsh. "If he could remain healthy all season, he could be an outstanding tight end." Ramson originally was picked by Green Bay in the 12th round of the 1978 NFL draft, but was released (8-15) in training camp. He was signed as a free agent by

St. Louis (8-24) that same summer and became their starter, playing in 15 games in '78 (hauling in 23 passes for 238 yards, and one score). Eason was placed on injured reserve (8-27 through 9-11) the following season, however, and was released by St. Louis (9-12). San Francisco signed him with two games remaining in 1979 (12-6). As a backup, Ramson had a fine season in 1980, finishing with 21 catches for 179 yards, and two TDs, but injury (knee) struck again in the '81 preseason opener at Seattle (8-5). He missed the entire preseason but was back for the opening two games of the regular season before he was sidelined again (the other knee) and placed on injured reserve (9-18 through 10-24) for five games. Eason returned for the Los Angeles game (10-25), and played in the next six games, mostly on special teams, before catching his first pass of the season (a four-yarder) at Cincinnati (12-6).

COLLEGE: Ramson was a four-year player at Washington State, where he was on the receiving end of passes thrown by Jack Thompson (Cincinnati Bengals). Eason's best year was his junior season with 41 receptions. He originally was recruited by the Cougars as a fullback.

PERSONAL: Eason was born in Sacramento, Calif., and attended Christian Brothers High School there. He and his wife (former Diana Taylor) have two sons — Eason L. (5-2-75) and Joshua (3-28-78). The Ramsons make their home in Foster City, Calif.

Jack Reynolds • 64

LINEBACKER • TENNESSEE • 13TH YEAR
HT: 6-1 • WT: 232 • BORN: 11-22-47 • (FA IN '81)

PRO: It's not unusual for players to put on their "game face" hours before the contest actually begins, but Jack Reynolds goes a step further — he puts on his entire ensemble. Reynolds, who likes to dress in his hotel room, usually rides to the stadium in uniform . . . sometimes hailing a cab in game attire. And, entering his 13th season in the NFL with 161 games and over 1,000 tackles to his credit, the old veteran must be doing something right. All he has done since signing with San Francisco as a free agent in 1981 (6-20-81), following 11 outstanding years in Los Angeles with the Rams, is lead the '81 49ers in tackles (117 total, 66 solo) during the regular season and the playoffs (24 total, 15 solo). He led the team off the field, too, through the club's finest season ever. "If there is one key factor or individual that we can point to for our success in '81," says Coach-GM Bill Walsh, "it is Reynolds. Jack probably made more difference than anyone. His experience brought us together; 1981 was his ninth straight playoff season." Reynolds started all 19 games (has 126 total starts in his dozen NFL seasons) and had double digits in the total tackles department in four games — vs. Chicago (9-13) with 12 (seven solo), vs. New Orleans (9-27) with 13 (six solo), vs. Atlanta (11-8) with 10 (four solo), and against the Rams in Anaheim on his 34th birthday (11-22) with 16 (eight solo). In the playoffs, Jack had games with eight, nine and seven total tackles, respectively. He intercepted a pass in the season opener against Detroit (9-6), and forced fumbles against New Orleans (9-27) and the New York Giants (1-3) in the NFC Playoffs. Nicknamed Hacksaw, Jack earned 2nd Team All-NFC honors and finished 14th in Football Digest's NFL Player-of-the-Year voting in 1981. He originally was drafted 1B in 1970 by the Rams and spent 11 years with them, the last eight as the starting middle linebacker. He was named to the Pro Bowl twice (following the '75 and '80 seasons) and led the Rams in total tackles several seasons (including 1975, '76, '78, and '80). Reynolds started all 16 games in 1978, '79 and '80 with Los Angeles and finished with 120 (78 solo), 144 (83 solo), and 119 (81 solo) tackles, respectively. The Rams released Jack (5-6-81) over a salary dispute.

COLLEGE: Reynolds was selected All-SEC and Football News All-America as a senior in 1969 and lettered three seasons (Tennessee's record was 9-2 in 1967, 8-2-1 in '68, and 9-2 in '69). The Vols played in three straight bowl games during Hacksaw's tenure — Orange, Cotton, and Gator. He earned the Simpson Theater Award as Tennessee's Outstanding Lineman in 1969 and played in the College All-Star Game in Chicago, Ill., and the Senior Bowl in Mobile, Ala., following that senior season. Jack picked up his nickname at Tennessee following a 38-0 loss to Mississippi in 1969 when he used 13 blades and a "Hacksaw" to cut a 1953 Chevy in half — out of pure frustration — following the loss. (see his own story below).

PERSONAL: Born John Sumner Reynolds in Cincinnati, Ohio, Jack was a standout at Western Hills High School in Cincinnati before enrolling at REYNOLDS Cont.

Tennessee. He is married (Pat) and spent this past off-season at a new home that he and Pat built on San Salvador Island in the Bahamas. They also own a home in Huntington Beach, Calif., and Jack lives in Redwood City during the season. A true student of the game, Reynolds reportedly has a garage full of notes on opponents (to which Defensive Coordinator Chuck Studley responds: "I just can't believe it isn't a warehouse full").

THE HACKSAW STORY

By Jack Reynolds

"In 1969, when I was a senior at the University of Tennessee, we had already clinched the Southeastern Conference title but still had to play Ole Miss. If Tennessee won the game, we would have gone to the Sugar Bowl. The previous year Tennessee had beaten Ole Miss, 31-0. Things went badly that day and Ole Miss beat the Vols, 38-0. I played a good game and was really upset at the outcome, so I went back to school. We had an old car, a '53 Chevrolet with no motor, on top of a bluff above the school. We used to push it around with a guy's jeep and practice driving into things . . . like demolition derby. When I got back to school I decided that I would cut that old car in half to make a trailer for a new jeep I had just purchased. It was a good outlet for my frustrations. I went to K-Mart and bought the cheapest hacksaw they had . . . along with 13 replacement blades. I cut through the entire frame and drive shaft, all the way through the car. I started on Sunday and finished Monday afternoon. It took me eight hours total time. I broke all 13 blades. When I finished I went and got one guy from the dorm, Ray Nettles, to witness it. The next day we took the rest of our friends from the dorm up the hill to it, but when we got there both halves of the car were gone . . . with just the 13 broken blades lying on the ground. To this day, I don't know what happened to the car."

Bill Ring • 30

RUNNING BACK • BRIGHAM YOUNG • 2ND YEAR
HT: 5-10 • WT: 215 • BORN: 12-13-56 • (FA IN '81)

PRO: The story of Bill Ring in 1981 has definite "local boy makes good through hard work and dedication" overtones. A product of Carlmont High School in nearby Belmont, Calif., and the College of San Mateo (just up the road from Redwood City and the 49ers' training facilities), Bill made the '81 San Francisco roster through his outstanding special teams efforts and his enthusiastic style of play. When Ring signed with the 49ers as a free agent (4-14) last spring, nobody thought it would be easy for the 5-10, 215-pounder to make it. And, it wasn't! He was placed on the injured reserve list (8-17) after severely cutting his hand open in a collision with teammate Freddie Solomon during a warm-up exercise on Family Day at summer training camp. Bill was activated (9-18) a month later, but was soon waived (9-22) to make room for Amos Lawrence, (who was activated from a special NFL roster exemption after being acquired from San Diego in a trade, (9-10). Ring was re-signed (10-7) three weeks later. His 1981 stats on special teams included 21 tackles (18 solo), a fumble recovery, and 10 kickoff returns for 217 yards and a 21.7 average (10th in NFC & 25th in NFL). He finished second on the team in kickoff returns and 17th in tackles, despite missing four of the first five games (Games 1 & 2 on injured reserve and Games 4 & 5 waived). Though he had a kickoff return for 23 yards at Atlanta (9-20) in Week 3, his stats didn't really begin accumulating until Week 6 (vs. Dallas, 10-11) when he recorded four unassisted tackles on kicking teams. Besides special teams, Ring saw more and more action from scrimmage as a situation player in the latter stages of the season and finished with 106 rushing yards on 22 carries in the final four regular season games (and 73 yards in 21 rushes during the playoffs). The finest game of Bill's professional career was at New Orleans (12-20) in the regular season finale. He had two solo tackles, two kickoff returns for 41 yards, and 11 rushes for 71 yards (the second best rushing day in '81 by any 49er player). Ring also had standout games vs. Houston (12-13) with two assists, one kick return for 18 yards, five carries for 18 yards and two pass receptions for 24 yards; and at Cincinnati (12-6) with one kickoff return for 17 yards, two carries for eight yards, and his first professional pass reception for his first NFL touchdown (four yards). Originally signed as a free agent by Pittsburgh (5-7-80) and released in that team's final preseason cut (8-25-80), Ring played in 15 games in '81 (counting all three postseason contests).

COLLEGE: Bill played two years at San Mateo JC before transferring to BYU, where he rushed for 782 yards, averaging 4.5 yards per carry, and was the MVP of the 1979 Japan Bowl.

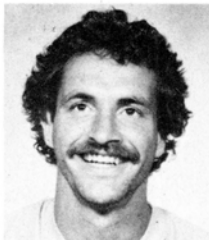

PERSONAL: Ring was born in Des Moines, Iowa, and grew up in California. He attended Carlmont High School in Belmont and today calls San Jose, Calif., his home. He earned his degree in finance from BYU in April, 1980. Ring is involved in many fund raisers and willingly gave of his time for more than 100 charities this past offseason.

WIDE RECEIVER • FLORIDA STATE • 5TH YEAR
HT: 6-0 • WT: 175 • BORN: 10-13-55 • (FA IN '78)

PRO: Mike Shumann decided not to give up his place of residence in California when he was claimed from the waiver list by Tampa Bay (from San Francisco) in 1980. He hoped to return to the San Francisco Bay Area some day, but never figured to get his wish as early as last year when the 49ers signed him as a free agent almost immediately following his release from the Bucs. Shumann originally signed as a free agent (5-8) in 1978 with the Miami Dolphins, was released (8-23) in the last preseason cut and signed by San Francisco (11-9) later that season. He played in six games for the Niners in '78 and started all 16 the following season, catching 39 passes. Then, in 1980, he was placed on injured reserve (8-22) in training camp (knee injury) and stayed there until October (10-22), when he was placed on procedural waivers and claimed by Tampa Bay (10-24), just two days before the teams played in Candlestick Park (Tampa Bay won the game, 24-23). He appeared in six games for the Bucs in '80 and was released just after the close of training camp (9-3) last year and signed again as a free agent with San Francisco (9-9) in time for Week 2 of the '81 season. Shumann played in 13 games for the '81 49ers and started at Cincinnati (12-6), filling in for the injured Freddie Solomon (out with a bruised kidney). Mike played in all three postseason games and started the NFC Championship Game vs. Dallas (1-10), due to the play calling suggested early in the game plan, and caught the first pass of the contest for 11 yards. He caught three passes during the regular season for 21 yards.

COLLEGE: Shumann caught 135 passes for 2,326 yards and 16 TDs during his four seasons at Florida State. He finished second on the Seminole career reception list and third on the career yardage and scoring charts at FSU. His season high was 43 catches in 1974. He topped his collegiate career with five receptions for 111 yards in a 37-9 win over rival Florida and caught four passes for 99 yards in his team's Tangerine Bowl win over Texas Tech, 40-17.

PERSONAL: Born Michael William Shumann in Louisville, Ky., Mike lived in many different locations around the country while growing up (his father was a salesman for IBM). He attended high school in Covington, La., but graduated from Leon High School in Tallahassee, Fla. A competitive water skier, Shuman didn't play football until his senior year at Leon. He has two Florida State degrees, one in art education and the other in mass communications (1976). Mike has worked his way into the music producing and recording business during the offseasons and also has done professional modeling.

Freddie Solomon • 88

WIDE RECEIVER • TAMPA • 8TH YEAR
HT: 5-11 • WT: 188 • BORN: 1-11-53 • (TRADE IN '78)

PRO: Freddie Solomon enters his eighth professional season as one of the top all-purpose athletes in the NFL with 6,583 career yards to his credit in five categories (rushing, passing, receiving, punt returns and kickoff returns). He also enters 1982 following his finest season in the NFL when he hauled in 969 receiving yards (11th in NFC & 21st in the NFL) on 59 catches (12th in NFC & 25th in NFL) and returned 29 punts (12th in NFC & 20th in NFL) for 173 yards (13th in NFC & 25th in NFL). He was second on the team in receiving (both catches and yards were career bests), second in punt returns, fourth in passing and ninth in rushing. He also was second on the squad in scoring with eight receiving TDs (3rd in NFC & 8th in NFL) for 48 points (11th in NFC & 23rd in NFL among non-kickers in each category). "In 1979 I said Freddie had his best season as a pro and in 1980 I felt he played even better," says Coach-GM Bill Walsh. "And, in 1981 he probably had his finest season in professional football. He's not getting older, he's getting better each year." Solomon started 15 games in 1981 (he missed the Cincinnati game, 12-6, with a bruised kidney) and caught at least one pass in every contest he played in, including the playoffs (and set the team record of 30 straight games in doing so . . . before he sat out the Bengals game). That record was taken over by Dwight Clark, at 34 games. Freddie, who completed a 25-yard pass to Clark vs. Dallas (10-11), had two 100-yard receiving games, including 113 vs. Chicago (9-13) and 124 at Los Angeles (11-22). He also had a 107-yard effort vs. the New York Giants in the NFC Playoff Game (1-3), a contest in which he earned a game ball. Freddie scored in each of the first four games of the campaign (21 yards at Detroit, 46 vs. Chicago, 12 at Atlanta, and 60 vs. New Orleans). Solomon originally was drafted 2A by Miami (with a pick the Dolphins received in a trade with Green Bay for quarterback Jim Del Gaizo) in the '75 NFL draft. He played three seasons in Miami before coming to San Francisco with Vern Roberson and two draft picks for Delvin Williams prior to the 1978 season. In 1980, he became the first 49er in history to return two punts for scores in a season and was named All-NFC as a punt returner by Pro-Football Weekly. "Freddie is one of the best deep receivers in football and has Pro Bowl potential if he maintains his efforts and stays healthy," says Walsh.

COLLEGE: Solomon played quarterback at the University of Tampa for four years (1971-74), rushing for 39 TDs and passing for 11 others during his career. He had 17 games with 100-or-more-yards rushing and his career totals were 3,299 yards on 557 carries and 2,504 yards on 188 completions in 436 attempts. He played in the College All-Star Game in Chicago in '75.

PERSONAL: Freddie was born in Sumter, S.C., and attended Sumter High School. He and his wife (former Delilah Jeffers) split their offseason time between their homes in Redwood City, Calif., and Tampa, Fla. He once had an amazing 252-yard, three TD game against Buffalo (1976) when he scored on a 79-yard punt return, a 59-yard flanker reverse, and a 53-yard pass reception for the Miami Dolphins. Over the past few years, Freddie has become more and more involved with charitable organizations and his favorite charity is the National Kidney Foundation. He sponsored a celebrity golf tournament among other fund raisers for NKF in 1982. He earned his P.E. degree in April, 1975, from Tampa.

1982 NFL Rule Changes

Professional football is enjoying unparalleled popularity and with this in mind, the National Football League owners adopted only minor rule changes for the 1982 season at their annual league meetings last March in Arizona.

Action taken to initiate new rules and/or clarify existing rules was as follows:

1. Reduced the penalty for incidental grasp of the face mask by the defense from a loss of five yards and a first down to a loss of five yards only.
2. Further clarified the definition of legal reception of a forward pass and specified that there is no possession when the ball comes loose simultaneously with the receiver performing acts necessary to establishing possession.
3. Clarified the rule that there is no interference if there is any question that the action causing incidental interference is simultaneous to the pass being touched.
4. Required players to cover their hip pads with their outer uniform.
5. Established officiating mechanics for timing the 10-second count when it becomes necessary by rule.
6. Eliminated the rule requiring the offensive team to show a double shift three times in the game outside the opponent's 20-yard line before it uses a double shift inside the 20-yard line.
7. Eliminated the provision in the rule book that allowed coaches to mutually agree upon shortening the length of a game.
8. Reduced the penalty for an illegal bat or kick from a loss of 15 yards to a loss of 10 yards.
9. Gave clubs the option of marking the solid white border surrounding the field wider than the present six feet.

Jim Stuckey • 79

DEFENSIVE END • CLEMSON • 3RD YEAR
HT: 6-4 • WT: 251 • BORN: 6-21-58 • (D-1B IN '80)

PRO: "Jim Stuckey has developed into the type of player we figured he'd be when we drafted him in 1980 (1B) out of Clemson," says 49ers' Coach-GM Bill Walsh. Stuckey started slowly in '81, hampered by a preseason ankle injury that plagued him through the first three games of the campaign, but came on to finish with 49 tackles (33 solo), 2½ sacks for 6½ yards, five passes defended, and his first professional fumble recovery (at Washington, 10-4). In the playoffs, he added six tackles (four solo), two sacks for 13 yards, and the most important fumble recovery of his pro career — a game saver vs. Dallas (1-10) in the NFC Championship Game (Lawrence Pillers knocked the ball loose from Danny White with just seconds left and Dallas driving, and Stuckey recovered it to protect the Niners' 28-27 lead, and give his team a trip to Super Bowl XVI). He had two sacks against Cincinnati (one during the regular season win in Ohio and the other for six yards in the Super Bowl). After being drafted 1B (20th pick overall) in '80, he ignored an ankle injury and a hip pointer (that hampered him through most of the season) and the pressures that go with being a rookie starter in the NFL, to lead the 1980 team in quarterback sacks (8½) and earn All-Rookie honors. After becoming a starter in Game 4 of 1980. Jim ended the year with 48 total tackles (29 solo). His personal best games were six solo tackles twice (both in 1981) — vs. Dallas (10-11) and in Anaheim vs. Los Angeles (11-22). He plays left end in the 49ers' 3-4 defense and usually shifts to left tackle in the 4-3.

COLLEGE: Stuckey was a two-year All-America at Clemson and one of 12 finalists for the Lombardi Trophy in 1979. He was All-Atlantic Coast Conference three straight seasons and played in the Senior and Hula bowls following his career with the Tigers. In four seasons (he became a starter in the eighth game of his freshman year), Jim piled up 267 tackles (146 unassisted), 28 tackles-for-loss, four passes defended, one fumble recovery, and one intercepted pass.

PERSONAL: Born in Columbia, S.C., Jim attended Airport High School in Columbia. He splits his time between Foster City, Calif., and Clemson, S.C. during the offseason.

Lynn Thomas • 28

CORNERBACK • PITTSBURGH • 2ND YEAR
HT: 5-11 • WT: 181 • BORN: 7-9-59 • (D-5A IN '81)

PRO: Lynn Thomas was the fourth defensive back drafted by the 49ers in 1981 (behind Ronnie Lott, Eric Wright and Carlton Williamson) and he was the fifth (sometimes sixth) defensive back off the bench for San Francisco during their Super Bowl season last year. Used primarily when the Niners shifted into their five and/or six defensive back alignments, Lynn played in 15 (he sat out the Green Bay game, 10-18) of the team's 16 regular season games and all three playoff contests. He recorded 26 tackles (16 solo) on the year and added two unassisted stops in the postseason. Lynn was credited with three passes defended (plus one in the NFC Playoff Game). His first professional fumble recovery (and possibly the biggest play of his pro career) came in Super Bowl XVI when he recovered Cris Collinsworth's fumble (knocked loose by Eric Wright) to stop a Cincinnati scoring drive on the eight-yard line in the second period. Thomas was drafted 5A (121st player chosen) by San Francisco out of Pittsburgh and joined college teammate Williamson (D-3) in the Niners' backfield last year. "Lynn saw dramatic improvement as the season went on in '81 and made a real contribution to the club, not only from scrimmage at cornerback in our nickel defense, but also on special teams," says Coach-GM Bill Walsh.

COLLEGE: A three-year starter for the Panthers, the four-year letterman was an honorable mention All-America pick at Pitt. Thomas played in the Senior Bowl following his Pittsburgh career.

PERSONAL: Lynn is a native of Pascagoula, Miss., and attended Pascagoula High School. He is the younger brother of Norris Lee Thomas (Tampa Bay) and the nephew of former Kansas City Chiefs' cornerback Jim Marsalis.

Keena Turner • 58

LINEBACKER • PURDUE • 3RD YEAR
HT: 6-2 • WT: 219 • BORN: 10-22-58 • (D-2 IN '80)

PRO: Players are prepared to take their bumps and get their share of lumps in the NFL, but Keena Turner carried that fact to the extreme in 1981. Probably no player has ever participated in a Championship Game with more lumps and bumps than Turner . . . he had chicken pox. That episode may have slowed Keena (his weight had dropped to 195 pounds by kickoff), but it didn't stop him. Turner played in all 19 games for San Francisco in '81 and started 14 times during the regular season and in all-three playoff games, including that NFC Championship Game vs. Dallas (1-10). He finished third on the squad in tackles with 84 (58 solo tackles for No. 58), and had three fumble recoveries (vs. Dallas — 10-11, Los Angeles — 11-22, and the New York Giants — 11-29) during the regular season and one against the Giants in the playoffs (1-3). He had his best game of the campaign in Anaheim against the Rams (11-22) when he recorded 12 tackles (seven solo) and a fumble recovery. Keena had seven total tackles four times during the '81 season and eight vs. New Orleans (12-7) in 1980. One game was really a beauty ... seven tackles, an interception, and a sack at Cincinnati (12-6). In the playoffs, he had the fumble recovery (vs. the Giants), two sacks, and seven tackles (four solo). As a rookie in 1980 — after being drafted in the second round (third behind two first round picks ... Earl Cooper and Jim Stuckey) — he finished with 48 tackles (36 solo) and two interceptions in 16 games (he started the final four games). "Keena is a complete linebacker," says Coach-GM Bill Walsh. "He is one of the most important men on the team due to his considerable talents and efforts. He is an exceptional athlete and a great value to the club." Last season Turner was the team's only starting linebacker who did not come out of the game when the Niners shifted to the nickel defense.

COLLEGE: Turner was a two-time All-America and an All-Big Ten pick as one of Purdue's tri-captains. The Boilermaker MVP as a junior, Keena's senior stats included 11 tackles against UCLA, ten tackles, two QB sacks and two forced fumbles versus Ohio State, and 11 tackles against Illinois. He had 57 tackles-for-loss totaling 345 yards during his three years as a starting defensive end and played in the Japan and Hula bowls following his Purdue career.

PERSONAL: Keena was born in Chicago, Ill., and is a product of Chicago's Vocational High School (CVS) — the same school that produced Dick Butkus (former Chicago Bears great). About his unique first name, Keena, explains: "My mother (Decy) named me after a little Indian boy on a TV program." Turner enters 1982 as one of several newlyweds on the squad since being married (6-12) to the former Theresa Hopkins, his college girlfriend. When he had his chicken pox in the playoffs, teammates joked with him: "Why don't you go line up in the their huddle, not our huddle?" Keena's sideline routine in those games: "I just kept my helmet on and wouldn't look at the cameras. I looked awful."

Ray Wersching • 14

KICKER • CALIFORNIA • 10TH YEAR
HT: 5-11 • WT: 210 • BORN: 8-21-50 • (FA IN '77)

PRO: "Ray Wersching is the best clutch field goal kicker in the NFL and probably the best in 49ers' history," says Coach-GM Bill Walsh. "He has been a great asset to this team and has meant the difference in many of our marginal victories over the years. He was a key to our win in Super Bowl XVI and many thought he was our MVP in that game." Although he missed four games on injured reserve after pulling a hip-flexor muscle in the '81 opener in the Silverdome against Detroit (9-6), Ray still ended up leading the 49ers in scoring for the fourth straight season. His 81 points (11th in NFC & 18th in NFL among kickers and 13th in NFC & 15th in NFL overall) came on a perfect 30-of-30 PATS and 17-of-23 field goals. In the playoffs, Wersching was 11-for-11 in PATs and 5-of-6 in FGs for a team-best 26 points. Ray had five points in the opener though his leg bothered him throughout, went on injured reserve for Games 2-3-4-5, and returned in Week 6 with nine points against Dallas (10-11) on all six PATs and an 18-yard field goal. In back-to-back games against Cleveland (11-15) and Los Angeles (11-22), he recorded eight consecutive field goals, including the game winner — 33-31 — in Anaheim (with no time left on the clock) from 37 yards out. In that Rams game, he connected on FGs of 47, 34, 32 and 37 yards and was named Pro Football Weekly's Golden Toe-of-the-Week. Wersching's long of the season was a 48-yarder against Atlanta (11-8). He tied a Super Bowl record with four field goals (22, 26, 40 and 23 yards) in four attempts and had the Cincinnati Bengals backed up against the wall with his squib kickoffs. Originally, Ray was signed as a free agent by San Diego in 1973, released (9-6) in 1976, and re-signed (10-16) that same season. He was released by the Chargers again in August, 1977, and signed by the 49ers (10-16) later that season. Wersching kicked a personal best 50-yard FG in his first San Francisco appearance in '77. He rated No. 1 in the NFC in 1979 and '80 (No. 2 in NFL) in field goal accuracy with 20-of-24 and 15-of-19 (and no misses inside 30 yards in '80), respectively. Last season, he ranked No. 4 in the NFC in accuracy with 17-of-23.

COLLEGE: Ray attended Cerritos JC and the University of California (Berkeley) and had outstanding careers at both schools.

PERSONAL: Born Raimund Wersching in Mondsee, Austria, he grew up in California and attended Earl Warren High School in Downey, Calif. He has a bachelor's degree from Cal in accounting and works in San Diego during the offseason as a CPA for Price Waterhouse Company. His nickname is "Mo" to teammates for the following reasons — take your pick: short for "Mochine" as in "Wersching Mochine" . . . or short for "La Mo-chine" as in his kicking is automatic like a machine . . . or short for "Mo-hair" as in he has "Mo-hair" on his body than anyone else on the team. Ray had a rare distinction for a kicker in Super Bowl XVI by initiating five consecutive plays, each of which resulted in time elapsing on the game clock: Play 1 — 22-yard FG; Play 2 — kicked off, fumbled by Cincinnati; Play 3 — 26-yard FG; Play 4

WERSCHING Cont.

— kicked off as first half ended; Play 5 — kicked off to begin second half. He makes his offseason home with wife Diane in Leucadia, Calif.

Carlton Williamson • 27

SAFETY • PITTSBURGH • 2ND YEAR
HT: 6-0 • WT: 204 • BORN: 6-12-58 • (D-3 IN '81)

PRO: Carlton Williamson was one of three rookies to start all 19 games in the defensive secondary for the World Champions in 1981. "And, he was the single biggest factor for the development of our young secondary. He was probably the most consistent back among the rookies and second only to Dwight Hicks for sustained, consistent effort in the defensive backfield," lauds Bill Walsh. "Carlton has all the attributes for becoming an All-Pro safety." The fourth player taken in the '81 draft (drafted in the third round as the 65th player taken overall), Williamson joined teammate Ronnie Lott on several NFL All-Rookie teams. He was fourth on the team in tackles with 82 (51 solo), defended 19 passes, and had three interceptions for the year. Carlton tied a 49ers' club record with 12 tackles vs. Dallas (1-10) in the NFC Championship Game and finished with 20 in the three playoff games for second best on the squad. He was named Pro

Football Weekly's Defensive Player-of-the-Week for his efforts (five tackles, a fumble recovery, a pass interception for 28 yards, two passes defended, and a second pass theft that was called back due to penalty) versus Pittsburgh (11-1). Another outstanding game was at Cincinnati (12-6) when he had nine tackles (seven solo), a forced fumble and a defended pass. Williamson's honors for '81 included UPI, Pro Football Writers Association and Football Digest All-Rookie selection.

COLLEGE: Williamson led the Pitt defensive backs in tackling as both a junior and a senior. He was recruited by Pittsburgh as a fullback and switched to defense to make the traveling squad, then took over at strongside safety in his junior year. He had 65 tackles as a junior and 46 in 1980. Carlton intercepted seven career passes and had 7½ quarterback sacks on blitzes. He earned his urban science degree from Pitt in summer of 1981.

PERSONAL: Carlton was born in Atlanta Ga., and grew up there. He attended Brown High School in Atlanta, and was an All-America schoolboy quarterback. He calls Atlanta home in the offseason and lives in San Mateo during the season.

Mike Wilson • 85

WIDE RECEIVER • WASHINGTON STATE • 2ND YEAR
HT: 6-3 • WT: 210 • BORN: 12-19-58 • (FA IN '81)

PRO: Last season was a learning process for Mike Wilson. "Mike has hands, speed and size similar to that of Dwight Clark and is in the developing stages. He picked up needed experience during 1981," says Coach-GM Bill Walsh. "He was not a surprise in '81, but we certainly were pleased with his development and we're sure he'll be even more of a contributor in '82." Wilson played in all 19 games a year ago. He was drafted by the Cowboys (ninth round) in '81 and released in training camp. The 49ers signed him the following week. Mike finished the season with nine catches for 125 yards and one TD, a 27-yarder from Guy Benjamin vs. Houston (12-13). His best games of the campaign were against Texas teams. He had two receptions for 22 yards, a fumble recovery, and an assisted tackle on special teams vs. Dallas (10-11), and two catches for 26 yards and a score against Houston (12-13). He also had two receptions at Atlanta (9-20) for 34 yards and two catches at Cincinnati (12-6) for 28 yards. Wilson finished fourth on the squad in kickoff returns with four for 67 yards and had a dozen tackles

(five solo). In the playoffs, Mike had three tackles on special teams and three receptions for 43 yards, including a key 22-yard catch that kept alive an important, fourth quarter drive that led to the 49ers' winning-margin field goal (by Ray Wersching) in Super Bowl XVI.

COLLEGE: Wilson caught 47 passes for 716 yards and six TDs in three seasons at Washington State. He also rushed for 176 yards on 11 carries.

PERSONAL: Mike captained the football and basketball teams and was a sprinter on the track team at Carson High in Carson, Calif. He was all-city in basketball and football there as well. He was born in Los Angeles and grew up in Carson. He spent this past offseason working on his degree at WSU.

Eric Wright • 21

CORNERBACK • MISSOURI • 2ND YEAR
HT: 6-1 • WT: 180 • BORN: 4-18-59 • (D-2B IN '81)

PRO: It was a classic case of being in the "wright" place at the wright time" for rookie right cornerback Eric Wright in 1981. Sure he was known throughout most of the year as "the other cornerback" on a team that featured All-Pro rookie Ronnie Lott at the left corner, but Eric proceeded through the season making a name for himself in (you guessed it) his own "wright". One of three 49ers' rookie defensive backs (with Lott and Carlton Williamson), he was the 40th player (2B) taken in the draft. He started all 19 games for the World Champions and was the team's sixth leading tackler with 75 stops (57 solo). He also had three interceptions for 26 yards and a team-high 24 passes defended to go with two fumble recoveries and a forced fumble in the regular season. He also had 14 tackles (ten solo), a forced fumble, eight defended passes and an interception for 25 yards in the playoffs. Wright had ten tackles (eight solo) vs. Houston (12-13) and forced a fumble in that contest, too, while his interceptions came vs. New Orleans (9-27), at Pittsburgh (11-1), and at Cincinnati (12-6). One of the featured plays of Super Bowl XVI was his interception of a Ken Anderson pass intended for Cris Collinsworth late in the fourth quarter. The theft gave the 49ers a possession (following Wright's 25-yard return) that led to their final field goal of the game and thwarted a Bengals' scoring opportunity. Another featured play in Pontiac was Eric's forced fumble against Collinsworth on the Niners' 9-yard line. Collinsworth had just caught a second quarter Anderson aerial for 19 yards when Wright tackled him, stripping the ball loose. That possession led to the 49ers' second TD of the afternoon. And, Wright is credited with a game saving tackle in the NFC Championship Game that paved the way for San Francisco's trip to Michigan. On that play, he collared Drew Pearson from behind following a 31-yard reception at the Niners' 44-yard line. "Eric is going to be a great player in this league, I'm sure of it," praises 49ers' Defensive Coordinator Chuck Studley.

COLLEGE: Wright was a free safety throughout college at Missouri and was a three-year starter. He was named All-America by AP and UPI as a junior when he notched a career-high 55 tackles and made honorable mention All-America (AP and Sporting News) his senior season. He played cornerback on the North squad (coached by the 49ers' coaching staff) at the Senior Bowl in Mobile, Ala. Eric had five interceptions and three fumble recoveries in 1980 and his 47 tackles gave him 156 for his career (94 solo). He had three interceptions against San Diego State for a Tiger record (including one for 77 yards and a score) and ended his career with 11 thefts and seven fumble recoveries.

PERSONAL: Born in St. Louis, Mo., Eric grew up in East St. Louis, Ill., and attended Assumption High School there. He spent the past offseason in Columbia, Mo., working on his degree in elementary education. He was married (former Alvita Nicks) on June 26. She is a graduate of Stephens College in Columbia, Mo.

Charle Young • 86

TIGHT END • USC • 10TH YEAR
HT: 6-4 • WT: 234 • BORN: 2-5-51 • (TRADE IN '80)

PRO: Charle Young was selected by his '81 teammates as the Len Eshmont Award winner for his "courageous and inspirational play", an honor that put frosting on his victory cake as a clutch performer for the 1981 World Champions. Last year was a fitting one to preceed his tenth year this fall in the National Football League. Young started all 19 games in '81 and finished with the most catches by a 49ers' tight end (37 for 400 yards) since Ted Kwalick's 47 in 1973. He has 299 career catches entering 1982, after catching at least one in each game of '81 (counting playoffs). Five of Charle's catches were for regular season scores and three times his points meant the difference in the margin of victory. In the playoffs, Young caught seven passes for 81 yards and a TD (vs. New York's Giants in the NFC Playoff Game, 1-3). His best reception day was four vs. Houston (12-13) and his best yardage game was 55 yards at Atlanta (9-20). He also had four catches for 45 yards against Dallas in the NFC Championship Game (1-10). In all, it was Young's best season since 1975 (49 catches, 659 yards and three TDs for Philadelphia). He originally was drafted No. 1 by the Eagles in 1973 following an All-America senior season at USC, and was named NFL Rookie-of-the-Year. In 1977, Young was traded to Los Angeles for quarterback Ron Jaworski and spent three seasons as a back-up with the Rams. San Francisco acquired him in 1980 through a trade with Los Angeles for an '83 draft choice. Young had 29 catches for 325 yards in his first year with the 49ers.

COLLEGE: In addition to his consensus All-America honors in his senior year at USC in 1972, Young helped lead the Trojans to the national championship that fall, as well. He is the top pass-catching end in USC history. At the conclusion of his career, Charle played in the Hula Bowl, the Coaches All-America Game, and the College All-Star Game against the World Champion Miami Dolphins.

PERSONAL: Born Charles Edward Young, he dropped the "s" in Charles (going by "Char-lee" now). He was born in Fresno, Calif., and attended Fresno's Edison High School. Young is a minister who is ultra-active in youth and charity work. He and his wife (Colleen) have four children: three daughters — Candace Euphrates (1-9-79), twins Cerenity and Chanel (2-22-80), and son Charles II (12-24-75). He holds his B.A. degree from USC. His hometown of Fresno had a Charles Young Day (2-22-82).

On October 4, 1959, Y.A. Tittle's pass against the Los Angeles Rams was partially blocked. Tittle caught his own pass and ran for 4 yards.

PARIS

49ERS' ROOKIES

(1982 Draftees)

N. WILLIAMS

WILLIAM "BUBBA" PARIS TACKLE MICHIGAN
HT: 6-6 • WT: 293 • BORN: 10/6/60 • DRAFTED: 2 (29th overall)

William "Bubba" Paris became the first offensive lineman since Randy Cross to be selected first by the San Francisco 49ers in the annual NFL draft.

Paris also was the first offensive lineman drafted in any round by Coach-GM Bill Walsh in his four years at the Niners' helm. Cross, who was named All-Pro at guard in 1981, was picked in the second round as the 49ers' initial choice of 1976 as a center out of UCLA.

A 6-6, 293-pound offensive tackle from Michigan, Paris earned a bundle of honors for the Wolverines, including Walter Camp All-America and College and Pro Football Newsweekly 2nd Team All-America, as well as AP All-Big Ten, and 2nd Team Academic All-America as an education major.

"Bubba," who started the final 32 games of his career, played in three postseason bowls — Hula, Japan, Olympia Gold.

Born in Louisville, Ky., on Oct. 6, 1960, he attended DeSales High School in Louisville, where he was team MVP, team captain, all-state, and All-America. His nickname was given him by high school teammates who compared him to former All-NFL defensive end Bubba Smith.

"Paris is just the man we've been looking for to play left tackle for us," praised Walsh. "He has potential, in all probability, to become a ten-year offensive tackle with Pro Bowl capabilities."

NEWTON WILLIAMS RUNNING BACK ARIZONA STATE
HT: 5-10 • WT: 204 • BORN: 5/10/59 • D-5 (139th)

The 49ers second choice came 110 slots later when Newton Williams, a tailback and fullback from Arizona State, was tabbed.

Williams, a fifth-year senior who was redshirted in 1980 after an early season injury, recorded 1,172 rushing yards and 255 receiving yards from 1977 through 1981 at ASU.

Williams was the Sun Devils' second leading rusher in 1979 (438 yards) and ranked third in total yardage behind Mark Malone and Robert Weathers that season. In 1978, he was second in total yardage behind Malone.

A broadcasting major, Newton was a member of the 1980 Sun Devil track squad and cleared 6-8 in the high jump. His 40-yard dash speed is 4.59.

Born May 10, 1959, he is a graduate of North Mecklenburg High School in Charlotte, N.C., and lettered three years each in football, basketball, and track.

VINCE WILLIAMS • FULLBACK • OREGON
HT: 6-0 • WT: 231 • BORN: 10-24-59 • D-6 (150th)

Just 11 picks later, San Francisco selected another fifth-year player named Williams as Vince Williams, who played fullback for the University of Oregon from 1977 through 1981, was tabbed.

The fifth leading rusher in Ducks' history (1,824 yards), Vince finished his college career as the all-time leading rushing fullback at Oregon. His 1981 stats included 241 rushing yards and 58 receiving yards, but his most productive season was 1978 — his sophomore year — when he rushed for 842 yards and recorded 181 receiving yards.

He is 6-0, 231, runs the 40 in 4.8, and can squat lift 625 pounds due to his powerful legs.

Williams was born Oct. 24, 1959, and attended Mt. Tahoma High School in Tacoma, Wa., lettering in track and football there.

RON FERRARI • LINEBACKER • ILLINOIS
HT: 6-0 • WT: 212 • BORN: 7/30/59 • D-7 (195th)

A late-blooming linebacker at the University of Illinois, Ron Ferrari was tagged "the best special teams player you can find . . . a kamikaze player," by Illini Coach Mike White, a former assistant with the 49ers.

The 6-0, 212-pounder with 4.7 40-yard dash speed was voted Illinois' Most Valuable Special Teams player his final two years by his teammates.

Ferrari, who was special teams captain last fall, started at linebacker in '81 and collected 83 tackles, including 34 solo stops. He also had eight tackles for losses totaling 27 yards, recovered a fumble and batted down one pass.

A Dean's List student majoring in agriculture. He earned his B.S. degree in June. Ron is a native of Moweaqua, Ill., and attended Moweaqua High School. He initially made the Illinois squad as a freshman walk-on and played fullback before making the switch to linebacker.

BRYAN CLARK • QUARTERBACK • MICHIGAN STATE
HT: 6-2 • WT: 196 • BORN: 7/27/60 • D-9 (251st)

The second choice of the second day for the Niners was Monte Bryan Clark, a four-year quarterback at Michigan State.

The oldest of three sons of Monte Clark (Head Coach and Director of Football Operations for the Detroit Lions), Bryan was born in Redwood City, Calif., July 27, 1960. The senior Clark played with the Niners (1959-60-61) and was head coach in San Francisco in 1976.

The younger Clark passed for 2,725 yards from 1978 through '81 for the Spartans, including 1,521 yards this past year on 109 completions in 204 attempts. He also threw 14 TDs. As team MVP in '81, Bryan carried the pigskin 48 times for 119 yards and a score.

He is 6-2, 196 pounds, and has 4.74 speed in the 40. Clark attended high school in Los Altos, Calif. (near the Niners' Redwood City camp).

DANA McLEMORE • RETURN SPECIALIST/DB • HAWAII
HT: 5-10 • WT: 183 • BORN: 7/1/60 • D-10A (269th)

A return specialist who doubles as a defensive back and has 4.49 40-yard dash speed, Dana McLemore was the first of two tenth-round 49ers' selections.

McLemore is 5-10, 183 pounds, and is from Venice High School in Southern California. He returned 31 punts for 261 yards and an 8.4 average in 1981. His long return was 51 yards.

A four-year starter at cornerback for the Rainbows, McLemore played in 41 career contests for Hawaii and totaled 180 tackles on 140 solo stops and 40 assisted tackles. He had 41 initial hits and five assisted tackles in '81.

Dana was born July 1, 1960, in Los Angeles.

TIM BARBIAN • DEFENSIVE TACKLE • WESTERN ILLINOIS
HT: 6-3 • WT: 230 • BORN: 4/16/59 • D-10B (279th)

A three-year starter at defensive tackle for Western Illinois, Tim Barbian is a 6-3, 230-pounder with 4.88 speed for the 40-yard dash.

Barbian, who started 25 straight games during his career with the Bulldogs (beginning with his sophomore season), had a hand in 171 total tackles for Western Illinois. In 1981, he had 31 solo stops and 23 assists to go with seven tackles-for-loss.

In 1980, as a junior, Tim had 41 solo and 32 assisted tackles, seven sacks, and 11 tackles-for-loss, while in '79, he had 26 solo tackles, 18 assists, four sacks, and three tackles-for-loss.

He was born April 16, 1959, grew up in Springfield, Ill., and attended Lanphier High School there.

GARY GIBSON • LINEBACKER • ARIZONA
HT: 6-1 • WT: 215 • BORN: 1/31/59 • D-11 (306th)

A winner of the "Tough Boot Award" as the outstanding defensive lineman at the University of Arizona in 1981, Gary Gibson is a 6-1, 215-pounder with 4.65 40-yard speed who will be converted by the 49ers to linebacker.

The second linebacker selected by the 49ers, Gibson finished 1981 with 91 tackles, including 43 solo stops and three QB sacks for 22 yards in losses. He also had seven other tackles-for-loss of 16 yards.

In his three-year Wildcat career (he played one season at Long Beach City College), Gary had 159 total tackles and nine tackles-for-loss for 28 yards, among other stats.

A graduate of St. Paul High School in Santa Fe Springs, Calif., he was a prep All-America and played roverback and tight end, while competing in track and field, too. His hometown is Whittier, Calif.

TIM WASHINGTON • CORNERBACK • FRESNO STATE
HT: 5-9 • WT: 184 • BORN: 11/7/59 • D-12 (334th)

The final pick of the 1982 draft, Tim Washington has outstanding stats despite the dubious distinction of being selected 334th, and last, in '82.

The Defensive Player-of-the-Game at the annual Blue-Gray Classic with two interceptions and nine tackles, Tim is the younger brother of Anthony Washington of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

In 1981, as a starting cornerback, Tim had 42 unassisted tackles, 12 assists, three interceptions, three passes defended, two forced fumbles, and one fumble recovery. In kickoff returns, he had one in '81 for 22 yards and 12 in 1980 for 235 yards and a 19.6 average.

He graduated from Fresno High in his hometown in 1977 after earning three letters each in football and track. His hobbies include karate.

Other 49ers With Pro Experience

DELRIK BROWN (5-10, 190, WR), a product of the University of Houston, was drafted by the St. Louis Cardinals in the 11th round of 1980. He was born in Lutkin, Tex., and attended high school there. An option quarterback at Houston, St. Louis tried him out at defensive back before waiving him.

MICKEY COLLINS (5-10, 190, RB), a running back from Wichita State, spent time in the summer training camp of the Seattle Seahawks in 1981 as a free agent. Mickey was born in Okmulgee, Okla., and attended Washington High School in Tulsa, Okla.

RUFUS CRAWFORD (5-10, 180, RB) played in 16 games with Seattle in 1978 after signing as a free agent that spring with the Seahawks. He was used mostly as a return specialist and gained 284 yards on 34 punt returns and 829 yards on 35 kickoff returns. A native of Gastonia, N.C., he attended Hunter Huss High School there and is a product of Virginia State College. He spent the last three seasons playing for the Hamilton Tigercats in the Canadian Football League. His 1981 CFL stats included 400 yards on 109 carries, 608 yards on 49 receptions and 127 yards on eight kickoff returns.

JOHN GLASS (6-2, 240, LB) is from Hollister (Calif.) High School and the University of Pacific. He was born in Salinas, Calif., and spent time in the Oakland Raiders camp last season.

KEVIN GRAFFIS (6-6, 275, T), who played his college ball at two schools (Eastern Washington — 1974-75 and Washington State — 1975-79), is back for a second attempt with the 49ers. He spent time in San Francisco's 1981 summer camp. He was born in Wenatchee, Wash., and attended high school in Oakesdale, Wash.

ERIC HERRING (6-1, 187, WR) signed with the 49ers in 1981 as a free agent from the University of Houston, but a training camp leg injury sidelined him for the season on injured reserve. He was born and raised in Houston, Tex., and attended high school (Jack Yates) and college there.

KURTIS JONKER (6-5, 265, T-G) has had two previous trials in the NFL, both with the Kansas City Chiefs who had Kurtis in their summer camp in 1979 and in '80. A product of Augustana College, Jonker was well traveled as a youth. He was born in Pella, Iowa, went to high school at Simley High in Inver Grove Heights, Minn., and now calls Yuba City, Calif., home.

ED JUDIE (6-2, 230, LB) is another of San Francisco's first year players who spent 1981 on the Niners' injured reserve list. He is a Northern Arizona product and grew up in Tempe, Ariz. He signed as a free agent with the 49ers in the spring of '81.

JEFF MOORE (6-0, 196, RB) spent two years with the Seattle Seahawks after being drafted out of Jackson State by Seattle in the 12th round of 1979. He had 32 kickoff returns with seattle for 652 yards to go with 359 receiving yards (39 catches) and 104 rushing yards (30 carries) from 1979 and '80. He was born in Kosciusko, Miss., and went to high school in Kosciusko.

BRAD VASSAR (6-2, 225, LB), a fifth round draft choice of Atlanta two years ago, has spent the past two years in the Falcons' preseason camp. Born in Sonora, Calif., Brad attended UCLA before finishing up at the University of Pacific.

GARY WEINLEIN (5-10, 183, DB-KR) is attempting (with his third team) to make it in the NFL. He originally signed with the New York Giants in 1976 and played the entire preseason with the Giants before being waived. He played in Canada in '77 and tried out with Cincinnati in '78 before going back to Canada that season. He tried out again with New York in 1979. He was born in Albany, N.Y., and attended Hudson Valley Community College.

JIMBO WHATLEY (6-1, 190, WR) was a 9B draft pick of the Seattle Seahawks in 1981. He was born in Birmingham, Ala., and grew up in Washington. Jimbo attended Interlake High School in Bellevue, Wash., and Washington State.

MILT WILLIAMS (6-1, 195, RB) a product of Norwich University, is attempting to make it in his third NFL camp. He tried out with the Dallas Cowboys in 1980 and with the New York Jets in '81. Born in Manhattan, he attended Lincoln High School in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Etc., Etc.

The 49ers' 16-3 record, which was the NFL's best in 1981, was the best record in 49ers' history and made San Francisco only the fourth team in league history to win 16 or more games:

1972	Miami 17-0	1976	Oakland 16-1
1978	Pittsburgh 17-2	1981	San Francisco 16-3

The 13-3 regular season record marked the 49ers' first winning season in five years, or since the 1976 team finished 8-6.

The 49ers won 15 of their last 16 games, the best team performance since Miami's 17 consecutive wins in '72.

The 49ers posted seven- and eight-game winning streaks during 1981, the longest winning streaks in their history. The seven-game streak is the longest regular season skien ever, and the eight-game streak is the longest overall skien, counting playoffs, and is ongoing.

The 49ers began a six-game winning streak on the road in '81 that is ongoing (seven counting the neutral site victory in Super Bowl XVI).

The 49ers became the first team since the Chicago Cardinals (1945-47) to go from the worst NFL record (2-14 in '79) to the league's best mark (13-3) in just three seasons.

The 49ers defeated five teams twice during '81, including all three playoff opponents.

The 49ers defeated every NFC West opponent at least once during '81, the first time they accomplished that since 1976.

The 49ers also:

Swept the Rams' two-game season series for the first time since 1965, including the first win over the Rams in San Francisco since 1966.

Scored their first regular season victory over Dallas since 1972, and enroute, notched the team's biggest victory margin in any game (45-14, 31 points) since 1974; and their biggest ever at Candlestick Park.

Scored the first victory by an NFC team in Pittsburgh since 1971, and the 17-14 win was the first 49ers' victory over the Steelers since 1968.

Defeated the Packers in Milwaukee for the first time since 1958.

In addition, the 49ers became the first team to win the Super Bowl the year after a losing season became the first team to win the Super Bowl after opening the regular season with a loss became the first NFC team to win the Super Bowl other than Dallas since 1967 and only the third NFC team to win since Super Bowl games have been played brought to the City of San Francisco its first major professional championship captured the first 49ers' NFC championship and Super Bowl championship in the club's 36-year history captured the NFC Western Division title for the first time since 1972.

Enroute, the 49ers had:

Six players make the Pro Bowl after not having a player in the Pro Bowl since 1977.

In Bill Walsh, the consensus NFL Coach-of-the-Year.

In Joe Montana, the NFC's leading passer, the Most Valuable Player in Super Bowl XVI, and Co-MVP of the NFL (Navy sponsored award) in his first full season.

Three rookies starting all year in the defensive secondary, and won.

The 49ers On Radio

At press time, the 49ers had added four radio stations to their network for the 1982 season . . . increasing an already powerful signal and making the '82 network the strongest in club history. The KCBS (flagship station) signal alone reaches 35 California counties with its 50,000 watt range.

In all, 17 stations throughout California, plus one each in Reno, Nev., and Honolulu, Hi., form the 49ers' network. KCBS is in the second of three years on its current contract.

In the booth, Don Heinrich has replaced Wayne Walker as the colorman, working with Don Klein (play-by-play). Klein and Walker were named the state's best play-by-play team for 1981 by the California Associated Press Television-Radio Association, and the Northern California Radio-Television News Directors Association.

The 1982 network includes: KCBS (74 am) San Francisco, KPAY Chico, KINS Eureka, KDAC Fort Bragg, KMJ Fresno, KBLC Lakeport, KBEE Modesto, KWSD Mt. Shasta, KOCN Pacific Grove, KBLF Red Bluff, KQMS Redding, KVEC San Luis Obispo, KUBA Yuba City, KSYC Yreka, KIAH Ukiah, KJOY Stockton, KFBK Sacramento, KHVH Honolulu, and KOH Reno.

49ers' Historical Highlights

Here are the team's historical highlights beginning with its first year in the NFL:

1950 — The 49ers fell flat on their faces in their NFL debut, winning only three games. A rival coach described them as "not big enough or tough enough."

1951 — In an amazing reversal of form sparked by a great rookie group, the 49ers were in the race to the final day and finished only a half game off the top. Led by Hardy Brown and his famed "shoulder tackle" the club had one of the toughest defensive units in the league. Y.A. Tittle and Billy Wilson began their great careers.

1952 — After a blazing start, the 49ers slumped in mid-season Hugh (The King) McElhenny came off the University of Washington campus to become "Player of the Year" and the most feared runner in football.

1953 — The 49ers had their best NFL showing, 9-3, normally good enough for a championship. Detroit, however, was 10-2. Two of the San Francisco losses came with Y.A. Tittle benched because of a severe facial injury. The three defeats were by a total of nine points. Joe (Jet) Perry became one of the few players in pro history to gain more than 1,000 yards in a single season. Gordy Soltau was the league's top scorer for the second straight year.

1954 — Early momentum was broken by injuries to key players such as Y.A. Tittle, Hugh McElhenny, and Joe Perry. Perry gained more than 1,000 yards again, the first man ever to achieve this distinction.

1955 — With Hugh McElhenny hobbled by a foot injury, the 49ers had their second worst season in history under Norman P. Strader who succeeded Buck Shaw as a head coach.

1956 — In Frankie Albert's first year at the helm, the 49ers were bogged in last place at mid-season with a 1-6 record. They won four and tied one of their last five games for a brilliant stretch drive.

1957 — This undoubtedly was one of the most emotional and dramatic seasons in 49ers history. Every game was a "Cliffhanger" and the "Alley-Oop" pass from Y.A. Tittle to rookie R.C. Owens became a household byword. Emotions reached a peak when the beloved Tony Morabito collapsed and died of a heart attack at the Chicago Bears game on Oct. 27. Trailing 17-7, the 49ers fought back for a great victory, 21-17. The magnificent Billy Wilson caught a pass from Tittle for the winning touchdown in the fourth quarter. Tied with Detroit at 8-4 when the season ended, the 49ers lost the playoff game, 31-27, although they held a 27-7 lead in the third quarter.

1958 — An up-and-down season which finished on a high note when Green Bay and Baltimore were defeated in the last two games. The 6-6 record, however, was blackened by the 33-3 and 56-7 lacerations at the hands of Los Angeles and Frankie Albert resigned at the end of the year.

1959 — With Howard W. Hickey in charge, the 49ers were in contention all the way and John Brodie came into his own at quarterback when he led the team to a 21-20 upset of Cleveland. J.D. Smith, converted from a defensive back, became the second 49er to accumulate more than 1,000 yards rushing.

1960 — Hickey saved a seemingly hopeless season when he installed his Shotgun attack and the club captured four of the last five games to finish in a tie for second place. Third-string quarterback Bobby Waters threw the passes that upset Baltimore, 30-22, in the final two minutes.

1961 — The success of Howard W. Hickey's Shotgun amazed the football world, especially the 49-0 victory over Detroit. Quarterback Bill Kilmer, a passing-running rookie from UCLA, was made to order for the new offense. When the Shotgun was stopped, John Brodie took over again in the "T" and had the finest season in 49er QB annals. Indicating the evenness of NFL competition, the 49ers were playing for a second-place tie, plus a trip to the Runner-up Bowl at Miami, or a fifth-place position on the last day of the season. The Colts again won by three points, but 1961 must remain as one of the most exciting and interesting years in 49ers history.

1962 — For the first time since 1956, the 49ers finished a frustrating season with more defeats than victories. In so doing, the honored adage of "it's easier to win at home than on the road," proved false — the 49ers won only one of seven at home, but captured five of seven road contests.

1963 — Injuries in multitude to key personnel started the 49ers off to a disappointing 2-12 league season. One of the victories, however, was a smashing 20-14 upset of ultimate World Champion Chicago, the only league defeat suffered by the Bears all season.

1964 — Club chief executive Victor P. Morabito died of a heart attack in May. Injury to key personnel prevented the 49ers from gaining enough offensive momentum to forge a winning season although they proved to be one of the toughest defensive clubs in the league. Outstanding rookie performances by end Dave Parks, quarterback George Mira and linebacker Dave Wilcox also took some of the sting from the 4-10 overall record.

1965 — Outstanding offensive performances enabled the 49ers to jump from the bottom to fourth place in the Western Division as the team led the NFL in both scoring and total offense. John Brodie was the most productive passer in the NFL, Dave Parks led the league in receiving and rookie Ken Willard and veteran John David Crow, acquired in an off-season trade, led a strong ground game. The over-all record was 7-6-1 and the season-opening 52-24 beating of the Chicago Bears marked the largest number of points ever scored by the 49ers in NFL play.

1966 — After a somewhat slow start, the 49ers got in gear just before midway in the season and became one of only two teams to beat the eventual World Champion Green Bay Packers. After that, they rolled to a respectable 6-6-2 record and were in the battle for second place in the Western Division until the final league game. Guard John Thomas and end Dave Parks were All-Pro, and they joined guard Howard Mudd, center Bruce Bosley, fullback Ken Willard and linebacker Dave Wilcox in the Pro Bowl.

1967 — An auspicious start (they were 5-1) disintegrated into disappointment for the 49ers as injuries took a heavy toll and a six-game losing streak took them out of the running. Quarterback George Mira came off the bench to lead the squad to two season-ending victories and salvage a 7-7 record. There were bright spots however, as, with John Brodie in fine form, the 49ers were the only team to beat the power-laden Rams in a league game, guard Howard Mudd and linebacker Dave Wilcox were named to All-Pro teams, and Mudd and center Bruce Bosley played in the Pro Bowl for the second straight time.

1968 — Under new coach Dick Nolan, the 49ers posted a 7-6-1 record as the season turned on key wins over New York, 26-10, and Green Bay, 27-20. Brilliant performances by QB John Brodie, receiver Clifton McNeil and running back Ken Willard led a prolific offense, while tackle Charlie Krueger, linebacker Dave Wilcox and defensive back Kermit Alexander, sparked a revitalized defense. McNeil and guard Howard Mudd were chosen All-NFL, and joined by Wilcox, Willard and Alexander in the Pro Bowl.

1969 — Beseated by injuries that nearly decimated the defensive unit, the 49ers struggled through the early part of the season, went five games before beating Baltimore, the first time they had done that in 13 previous games. It got a little better after that (final record was 4-8-2) and five players — Jimmy Johnson, Dave Wilcox, Elmer Collett, Ken Willard and rookie Gene Washington — were selected for the Pro Bowl. Johnson was also All-Pro and winner of the Eshmont Award.

1970 — This was the greatest year since the club became a member of the NFL in 1950. The 10-3 record was the best as an NFL club, the Western Division (NFC) championship was the first in the NFL. In a season of superlatives, John Brodie was the NFL's "Player of the Year," Bruce Taylor was NFC "Rookie of the Year," Coach Dick Nolan was a near-unanimous choice as NFC "Coach of the Year." Brodie, receiver Gene Washington, linebacker Dave Wilcox and cornerback Jimmy Johnson were All-Pro and joined by tackle Len Rohde in being selected for the Pro Bowl.

1971 — The 49ers forged a 9-5-0 record and won their second consecutive NFC Western Division title, clinching the crown on the final day by beating Detroit, 31-27, the identical score by which the Lions had knocked the 49ers out of championship play in the bitterly-remembered 1957 game. The season was also the club's first in its plush new home, Candlestick Park. Center Forrest Blue, linebacker Dave Wilcox and cornerback Jimmy Johnson were All-Pro and joined in the Pro Bowl by Ted Kwalick, Gene Washington, Vic Washington, Cedrick Hardman and Bruce Taylor.

1972 — Early-season inconsistency compounded by an injury to John Brodie in the fifth game of the season cast a pall on 49er prospects for a third-straight NFC Western Division title, but Steve Spurrier stepped in for Brodie and turned things around with a brilliant, poised performance. In the final quarter of the final game the recovered Brodie relieved Spurrier and threw two TD passes for a 20-17 win over Minnesota that clinched divisional title No. 3, but Spurrier's nine-game contribution was the key. Center Forrest Blue, defensive back Jimmy Johnson, tight end Ted Kwalick, wide receiver Gene Washington and linebacker Dave Wilcox were All-Pro selections.

1973 — In what was both a disappointing and significant year, the 49ers were 5-9 after tackling the NFL's toughest schedule and falling victim to a rash of key injuries and an unsettled quarterback situation. It also marked the end of the brilliant careers of quarterback John Brodie and defensive tackle Charlie Krueger, both of whom retired at year's end. Center Forrest Blue and Dave Wilcox were All-Pro and joined in the Pro Bowl by Ted Kwalick, Woody Peoples and Tom Wittum.

1974 — The 49ers used five different quarterbacks after an injury to starter Steve Spurrier a week before the season opened sidelined him for most of the year. After winning the first two games the club lost a team record seven straight and then closed with a rush, winning four of the last five games to finish the season at 6-8. Running back Wilbur Jackson was named The Sporting News "Rookie of the Year" and was named to the NFL All-Rookie team along with quarterback Tom Owen and defensive back Mike Holmes. Center Forrest Blue and punter Tom Wittum were All-NFC and selected for the Pro Bowl along with Jimmy Johnson. A knee injury forced perennial All-Pro linebacker Dave Wilcox to retire after a brilliant 11-year career with the 49ers.

1975 — A strong defensive performance throughout the season couldn't offset an erratic offense troubled by a unsettled quarterback situation and a rebuilding offensive line. High point of the 5-9 season was a 24-23 win over Los Angeles to end a 10-game losing streak to the Rams. At season's end, defensive end Credick Hardman was the club's only All-Pro selection and only player chosen for the Pro Bowl. Jimmy Johnson became the club's first-ever two-time Eshmont Award winner.

1976 — A turnaround year for the 49ers as the team, under coach Monte Clark, posted an 8-6 record, their first winning season since 1972. With new quarterback Jim Plunkett at the controls, the 49ers got off to their best start ever, 6-1, before hitting a mid-season four-game losing streak that knocked the club out of the playoff contention. The season saw the emergence of a powerful defensive unit that led the league in quarterback sacks with 61. Delvin Williams set a 49ers single-season rushing record with his 1,203 yards on the ground. Tommy Hart was named All-Pro and played in the Pro Bowl along with Williams, Cleveland Elam, and Dave Washington. Center Randy Cross was an All-Rookie team selection. Tommy Hart became a two-time winner of the Eshmont Award and Cornerback Jimmy Johnson retired after a brilliant 16-year career with the 49ers.

1977 — In the 32nd year of their existence, the 49ers began an all new era. On March 31, 1977, the club became the property of Edward J. DeBartolo, Jr., and came under the guidance of Joe Thomas as general manager. The changeover was made more dramatic because the San Francisco 49ers were one of the few NFL franchises which had never previously changed ownership or location. On the field, under Coach Ken Meyer, the 49ers ran hot and cold. The club lost its first five games, then won five of the next six before dropping the final three contests for a 5-9 record overall. Strong safety Mel Phillips was named winner of the coveted Eshmont Award. Cleveland Elam was selected All-Pro and played for the NFC team in the Pro Bowl.

1978 — The 49ers suffered through their longest season as the club fell to 2-14 in '78 and three coaches were hired and fired in less than 12 months. First, Pete McClulley departed after nine games with a 1-8 record, and his replacement, Fred O'Connor, was let go at the end of the year as the team won just one of its final seven contests. Bill Walsh was hired as the new Coach and General Manager on January 9, 1979, replacing O'Connor as coach and Joe Thomas as General Manager. Running back Paul Hofer, who replaced acclaimed O.J. Simpson when the newly-acquired star went to the sidelines for the year with a shoulder injury, was named recipient of the Len Eshmont Award. No 49ers received post-season honors '78, as five starters — in addition to Simpson — were lost for the year with injuries.

1979 — The 49ers suffered through their second consecutive 2-14 season, but there were several indications of improvement. San Francisco went from virtually the worst ranked offensive team in the league in '78 to one of the most productive offensive units in the NFL in '79, ranking first in passing offense in the NFC and sixth in total offense in the NFL. Running back Pual Hofer again was the Len Eshmont Award recipient and individual leader, racking up 615 yards rushing and an additional 662 yards receiving on 58 catches in only seven starts. Quarterback Steve DeBerg broke Fran Tarkenton's NFL record for completions by connecting on 347 passes. Kicker Ray Wersching set a club record 83.3 field goal percentage, also leading the league with that mark. No 49ers were named to the Pro Bowl squad. O.J. Simpson retired from the 49ers and the NFL, finishing as the second leading rusher of all time with 11,236 yards.

1980 — In their second season of the Bill Walsh era, the 49ers showed gradual improvement in their rebuilding program. A three-game winning streak to open the season, combined with a three-game victory string from Week 12 through Week 14 enabled the Niners to post a 6-10 season, tripling the number of victories from each of the previous two 2-14 campaigns. Week 14 was a day when the 49ers made NFL history. That Dec. 7 in Candlestick Park, the 49ers overcame a 35-7 halftime deficit to the New Orleans Saints to win in overtime, 38-35. The 28-point comeback was the biggest points-margin-comeback in NFL history. The Niners also won in overtime in their '80 home opener (Week 2) when Ray Wersching, who would later win the New Orleans comeback game with a field goal, booted the game-winning three pointer in a 24-21 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. The biggest victory of the season came in a 21-17 upset of New England at Candlestick on Thanksgiving weekend, a victory that helped grease the skids for the Patriots' late slide from the AFC playoff picture. No 49ers were named to the Pro Bowl squad for the third consecutive year, but Randy Cross at guard and Freddie Solomon as a punt returner were All-NFC selections by Pro Football Weekly. In addition, linebacker Bobby Leopold, defensive end Jim Stuckey and punter Jim Miller were named to All-Rookie teams, while another rookie, fullback Earl Cooper, led the NFC in receptions with a team-record 83, the most catches ever by an NFL rookie. Dwight Clark caught 82 passes to break the team wide receiver mark, and Joe Montana set the club passing percentage record at .645 with 176 completions in 273 attempts. Defensive tackle Archie Reese was voted the team's Len Eshmont Memorial Award winner.

1981 — It was a year of firsts and bests for the 49ers in 1981. In his third season as head coach and general manager, Bill Walsh guided San Francisco to a 16-3 record (best 1981 record in the league, fourth best in NFL history, and best ever for the 49ers), the NFC Western Division title (first since '72), the NFC Championship crown (first ever for the 49ers), and the World Championship/Super Bowl XVI win (first ever for the 49ers). Walsh was named to every possible NFC Coach-of-the-Year award and to all seven NFL Coach-of-the-Year honors, while six 49ers were named to the Pro Bowl — Dwight Clark, Randy Cross, Joe Montana, Fred Dean, Ronnie Lott, and Dwight Hicks). Three San Francisco players were selected to All-Pro teams as recognized by the NFL — Cross, Lott and Dean. Montana, who led the NFC in passing in '81, was named MVP of Super Bowl XVI (for leading his team to a 26-21 win over the Cincinnati Bengals of the AFC). Dean was picked UPI NFL Defensive Player-of-the-Year, NFL Outstanding Defensive Lineman-of-the-Year (NFL Players Association), and NFC Defensive Player-of-the-Year (Kansas City Committee of the 101). San Francisco opened and closed the season in Pontiac, Mich., in drastically different styles. The 49ers lost two of their first three games of 1981, including that season opener on the road against Detroit, then ran off seven wins — before a loss to Cleveland 15-12 — and ran off eight more wins (including the playoffs, the NFC Championship, and Super Bowl XVI). The 49ers won 15 of their last 16 games, beat five opponents twice — including all three postseason foes — and became the first team since Chicago in 1945-46-47 to go from the worst NFL record (2-14 in 1979) to the league's best (13-3 in '81) in just three seasons. All this happened with three rookies (Carlton Williamson, Eric Wright, and Lott) starting in the defensive secondary. Those three rookies, along with Montana, Clark, Cross, Freddie Solomon, and Hicks, combined with "old veterans" Dean and Jack "Hacksaw" Reynolds to form a nucleus of world championship vintage.

Len Eshmont Award

Charle Young, an All-Pro tight end in 1973-74-75 while with the Philadelphia Eagles, was selected the 1981 recipient of the annual Len Eshmont Award by a vote of his teammates.

The award is given each year to the 49ers player that best exemplifies the "inspiration and courageous play of Len Eshmont," an original 49er from the 1946 team who later coached at Navy and Virginia before dying suddenly in 1957.

Young had 37 catches in '81, the most by a 49ers' tight end since Ted Kwalick caught 47 in 1973. He had 400 yards receiving (10.8-yard average per catch) and five TDs in 1981, as well. (For more information on Young, see his bio elsewhere in this guide.)

Stadium Information

The San Francisco 49ers begin their 12th year in Candlestick Park. Candlestick is one of 17 combination pro football and baseball stadiums in the United States.

The "new" Candlestick was completed in 1972 (the 49ers played in the park while it was still under construction in 1971), when it was completely encircled, carpeted with AstroTurf, furnished throughout with comfortable chairs (no bleachers), and surrounded by additional parking space.

The stadium seats 61,185 for football. There are three major ticket plazas and entry levels. Every seat in the stadium is a chairtype, plastic unit for comfort and durability. Completely double-decked, the park features a 7,394-seat movable section.

In the spring of 1979, the artificial turf was replaced by natural grass.

"The Lion" Honored

Former San Francisco 49er tackle Leo "The Lion" Nomellini is a member of Pro Football's Hall of Fame, but he also has another distinction. He is the only player ever to make All-Pro both on offense and defense since two-platoon all-stars have been selected. Nomellini was an All-Pro choice on offense in 1951 and 1952, then switched to defense and was an All-Pro selection in 1953, 1954, 1957 and 1959. Leo also played in 10 Pro Bowl games, two on offense, eight on defense.

We were in their camp long
this.

Saga Corporation has been serving meals at 49er training camps since 1979. In that capacity, we've been privileged to watch the development of a great team firsthand.

A tremendous experience but not a surprising one.

We knew we were in the right camp all along.
